B A N D

Standing: Mr. Vorel (Director), Edna Dixon, Pete Thompson, Orville Simons, Wilbur Smith, Judy Werts, Billie Catterson

Edna Dixon, Dorothy Grafton, and Marlene Lox are grade school members of the band.

Music is a very important part of every school curriculum because it enriches the future of those who take part. The band should play a very distinctive part since, through participation in instrumental music, one learns to enjoy better music and indirectly one learns to live better with his neighbors. The G-O Band was organized at the beginning of this year with these objectives in mind.

It is the hope of all those interested in the band that the present small group will serve as a nucleus around which a large organization will be built during the coming years.

The Future Homemakers of America is a national organization of all girls interested in homemaking and of those having had at least one year of homemaking in school. The G-O Chapter of F. H. A. is the largest organization in our school, having 48 members.

The motto of the Future Homemakers of America, "Toward New Horizons," expresses the purpose of the organization--learning to live better today in order that our lives and those of our families may be better tomorrow.

The G-O Chapter of F. H. A. held its regular meetings the second Monday of each month. The theme for this year is, "F. H. A. on Television". Some of the special activities for this year were: wiener roast for freshmen girls, Harvest Family Night pot luck supper, gifts for foreign children through World Friendship, all-school Christmas Dinner, special observance of F. H. A. Week, initiation of new members, F. H. A. Sectional Rally, and Mother and Daughter Banquet.

Jane Weir shelves fiction books and keeps one section of books in proper sequence on the shelves. Janet Dillon shelves history books and helps with maintaining the proper order of the books in the 900 class. Carolyn Randall removes out-dated magazines and newspapers. The third annual copy of the yearbook, Memories, was prepared by the office practice class. With Mrs. Swanson as their advisor, the class sold advertisement to finance the yearbook, chose the cover design, decided upon the contents of the yearbook, and planned the page layouts. The ads, which were sold in Gladstone, Oquawka, Burlington, and Monmouth, were stenciled and mimeographed by the class. The layouts were then prepared in final form and mailed to Kansas City, Missouri, for reproduction. Finished pages, together with the mimeographed advertising, were assembled by the class and taken to Galesburg for binding and covering.

RECOGNITION

Standing: Mr. Morrison, Mrs. Marr, Mr. Zuege, Mr. Wright

Seated: Joyce Stewart, Harold Ahlberg, Ethel McCabe, Lorraine Johnson

Behind the scenes in each school there are various individuals who contribute a great deal of time and effort in numerous ways to further the activities of the school.

Mr. Morrison, school treasurer, has a very exacting task since he maintains a record of all money which is received or disbursed in the operation of the extra curricular activities of the school.

Mrs. Marr is faculty publicity director. Each week she collects news from the teachers in the various departments, writes the general news of the school, types these news reports, and sends copies to the Burlington Hawk-Eye Gazette, The Henderson County Journal, and the Daily Register Mail. These news items are also given to the school paper and annual staffs for use in their publications.

Mr. Zuege maintains an accurate attendance record for each pupil. At the close of each month, he provides each teacher with a summary report of attendance for each pupil whose absence is excessive.

Mr. Wright maintains a record of Hot Lunch ticket sales for both the high school and the grade school. Each morning that school is in session he sells tickets to the teachers in their home rooms, collects a ticket sales report, summarizes the report, notifies the cooks how many to expect for lunch, and sees that the number of tickets sold tallies with the number collected at the lunch room.

Joyce Stewart collects an attendance report from every teacher during the last period of the school day. Teachers check attendance each period and for each class.

Ethel McCabe brings the school mail from the post office each morning, delivers a report in regard to the number of students buying tickets for hot lunches, and puts the newspapers and magazines in the library.

Lorraine Johnson takes the out-going school mail to the post office during the last period of the school day.

Synopsis

Place: The living-reception room at Briarton, a boarding school for girls.
Time: The present: Autumn

Phoebe Prince, "The Little Orphan Princess," has been taken from a Paris convent by her aunt and guardian and enrolled at Briarton. She is immediately followed by a young French nobleman and fortune hunter. Meanwhile Phoebe makes herself thoroughly unpopular with the girls of the school and is told off by them in a thrilling initiation scene. This helps her to decide to elope with the count and there is consternation at Briarton. But Phoebe is rescued from the count by Wilbur Timkins, the school electrician. There are a number of side plots and comedy galore supplied by an ex-middleweight champ, a colored janitor, a colored cook, a girl who eats all the time, and others.

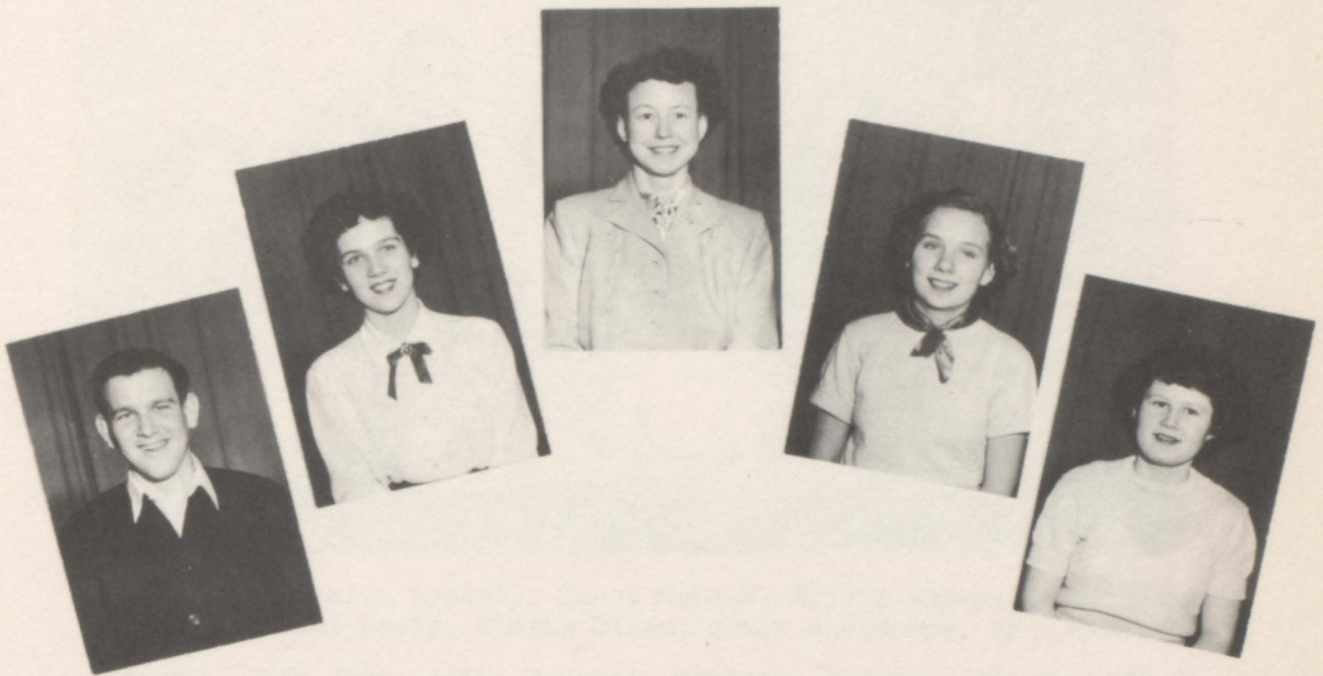

Director.....Mrs. Vernon J. Marr

Mildred Smith gave the reading "Jane" in the Comedy Reading Event. Darlene Pruett read a cutting from the play, "Julius Caesar," for the Serious Reading Event. Colleen Dixon read two poems in the Poetry Reading Event.

Mrs. Marr coached the students for these speech events.

STUDENT COUNCIL

Standing: Carolyn Randall, Janet McCabe, Melvin McCabe, Caroline Anderson, Ercel Davis, Elaine Dixon, Sammy Stevenson, Bill McGraw

Seated: Ivan Jern, Alice McCabe, Marianna Cooper, Arlene Rudy, Mr. Swanson

The Student Council is composed of the president and vice-president of each class, and a representative from each recognized student organization in the school.

The purposes of the Student Council are: to provide practice in parliamentary procedure and practical citizenship; to encourage students to accept their responsibilities to themselves and to the school; and to stimulate a spirit of co-operation among students and faculty.

The major projects of the Student Council this year were: deciding to give a Christmas donation to an orphanage instead of exchanging gifts; participating in an assembly program stressing sportsmanship and school spirit at basketball games; and organizing the election of cheerleaders and school citizens.

Officers of the Student Council are: President, Ivan Jern; Vice-president, Alice McCabe; Secretary-Treasurer, Marianna Cooper; Reporter, Arlene Rudy.

TALELITE STAFF

Standing: Doris Cochran, Don Dixon, Arlene Rudy, Fred Huss, Shirley Seitz, Marianna Cooper, Mrs. Swanson

Row 4: Ivan Jern, Duane Fryrear, Dean Shaw

Row 3: Ramona Manning, Betty Phelps, Melvin McCabe

Row 2: Elaine Dixon, Betty Woods, Caroline Anderson

The office practice class organized and mimeographed the school newspaper, the Talelite, each six weeks. This work was supervised by Mrs. Swanson. Different steps in production were: typing the copy in columnar form, proofreading, preparing the art work and cover design, cutting the stencils, making final typographical check, mimeographing the copies, assembling, mailing, and distributing.

Football and basketball games come and go; some are won and some are lost. Quietly behind the scenes, student assistants and faculty managers perform the essential task of ticket sales and collection. No goals are made, no touchdowns scored, but these groups are an important part of the "team" without whom no interscholastic games could be played.
