We, the Senior Class,
wish to dedicate the 1950
WEVER to Mr. Charles Mullin

as our class advisor and supervisor of the 1950 WEVER.
He has served as commerce instructor at Media High school the past four years.

PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

For many years man has prophesied that we are now at the cross roads of civilization. Whether we are now, or in years past, will only be known to posterity. We do want each and everyone who graduates from Media to realize more fully that as he graduates from high school, life will become immediately more complex. New problems will arise and each in turn will have to be solved.

It is the desire of the Media High School faculty and the members of the Board of Education that every student shall have gained some learning that will enable him to survey with proper consideration, new proposals, whether they be community, state, national or world wide. Often many plans sound as they seem at first, but are found, under closer observation, to incorporate very serious faults that may act as a burden on future generations.

For instance, Communism, with its plan to divide the wealth of our nation, may sound good to a person with no wealth. Most of our values are in materials. Communism is revealed in all of its ugliness when one discovers that if we divide the wealth of this country that one might receive fifty-two dollars in cash, and one-hundredth interest in a blast furnace, plus two steel rails, half a dozen auto tires and perhaps a hundred cedar posts. This is even more severe when Communism demands the end of all churches and substitutes a church organized by the leader of the state. Fortunately, or unfortunately, wealth can be gained only by hard work.

We do not mean to be pessimistic. We firmly believe that there is plenty of opportunity to succeed in this country of ours with its freedom of religion, speech, and press; provided first, that each student is endowed with proper religious and moral conscience; second, that he continues to have faith in our system of free enterprise; third, that if everyone remembers the high prosperity that comes through the destruction of war is not continued through years of peace. Many high school boys, accustomed to earning five to ten dollars a day and getting thirty-eight per hundred weight for their project steers, should not be too disappointed when prices of goods level off to a place that our fathers vividly remember. We believe that if one has these things in mind plus a willingness for hard work, that every American can go just as high up the ladder of success as he desires.

To all of you graduates we extend our very best wishes.

CLASS HISTORY

Chapter I

The Freshman Class of 1946, consisting of eighteen members, was welcomed at Media High School on September 3, 1946. By the beginning of the second semester we had gained Billy Aten and Betty Cleland.

We elected Miss Habben for our advisor and the following for officers:

President-----	Margie Cleland
Vice-President-----	George Torrance
Secretary-----	Marie Lynch
Treasurer-----	Bonnie Reynolds
Reporter-----	Margaret McCleary
Student Council-----	Ivagene Livermore

The King and Queen candidates from our class were Dean Melvin and Ivagene Livermore.

The Sophomore class took great pleasure in seeing us come to school on initiation day with the girls wearing their Dad's long-sleeved shirts and overalls on backwards and their hair in sixteen pigtails. The boys were dressed in nightgowns. To set off the costumes, cucumbers were hung around the neck of each member. Each one carried a jar of 50 grasshoppers.

We had four parties during the year. Our first was in return for the Sophomore Class initiation party. We had our Christmas Party with the Sophomores; another was a skating party at Macomb. The last was a party given for the girls by the boys.

Those that represented us for speech this year were Bonnie Reynolds, Luella Brent, Betty Cleland, and Margie Cleland. Bonnie Reynolds and Betty Cleland received first place awards and were sent to District Speech Contest at La Harpe. Neither of them placed there.

The boys participated in the sports of the year. The only injury occurred when George Torrance broke his ankle while practicing football. Those that went out for football were George Torrance, Eldon Neff, Mickey Utzinger, and Ferrol Cramer. In basketball all the boys were present. Julius Eberhard, Wayne Hendrickson, Dean Melvin, Mickey Utzinger, and Ferrol Cramer were out for the Track Season.

Chapter II

When the Sophomore Class met on September 1st, it had seventeen members, having lost Wayne Hendrickson, Calvin Reynolds, and Bonnie Reynolds. In February we added a new member, Billie Hess.

At the first class meeting we held an election for officers; They were: President, Dean Melvin; Vice President, George Torrance, Secretary, Ivagene Livermore; Treasurer, Betty Cleland; Reporter, Marie Lynch. We chose Mr. Shelton for our advisor.

The first big event was planning the Freshman initiation, which the Freshmen probably didn't appreciate.

For the Carnival we chose Margie Cleland and George Torrance as Sophomore candidates for Queen and King.

To add funds to the treasury we had a round and square dance on April 30, at the Media High School Gym.

As Betty Cleland wouldn't be back at school for the remainder of the year she resigned as treasurer in February and at the party which we had we elected Marjorie Thrush to take her place.

Our class participated in all the activities. The boys went out for athletics and most of the girls were in chorus.

Margie Cleland and Billy Aten were members of the Speech team.

With two successful years behind us we can now look forward to two even more successful years as upper classmen.

Chapter III

On August 30, 1948, eighteen of those proverbial "Jolly Juniors" entered the doors of Media High School for the opening of the 1948-49 school term. Cornelius Saben joined our happy group at the beginning of the term. It wasn't long after school started that we lost Billy Aten, as he moved to Macomb. In the Spring Billie Hess left our group and moved to Coldbrook.

We chose the following officers to help lead us through our Junior year:

President-----	Dean Melvin
Vice President-----	Marie Lynch
Secretary-----	Ivogene Livermore
Tressurer-----	Cornelius Saben
Reporter-----	Marjorie Thrush

We chose Mr. Elmer Sharpe for our class advisor.

The first event which the Juniors sponsored was the Trail Rail. A fried chicken dinner was served to the participants during the hour at the Wever Lake. After looking over debits and credits, we found that we had made a profit of almost thirty dollars.

Our first really big undertaking of the years was the shonsorship of the Annual All-School Carnival which occurred on the fifteenth of October. We all bemoaned the fact that everyone made money except the Juniors. Well, anyway, we had some fun.

Bake sales were held on two different Saturdays. On two halfday holidays, anyone passing by the Kennith Lyon's farm could witness us working hard at picking up corn.

The class play "No Soap" was presented on March 25th under the direction of Mr. Sharpe.

Billie Hess and Cornelius Saben represented us for carnival Queen and King.

Marie Lynch represented us for the Homecoming Queen.

The boys were active in the sports of the year: football, basketball, and track.

All of us were pleased with our class rings. They were of a new style, which made them shorter and wider than usual.

The annual Junior-Senior Banquet was held May 21, 1949. Everyone enjoyed the evening immensely.

Our Junior year now ended with everyone looking forward to their Senior year and the excitement which it should hold.

Chapter IV

August 29, 1949 the Media Wever High School doors were opened to about 65 students among them were 17 "sophisticated seniors." We lost Marie Lynch because of transfer! It was our good fortune to gain Shirley Vernoy and Carroll Livermore.

For our leaders for our last year at Media High School we chose:

George Torrance-----	President
Cornelius Saben-----	Vice President
Shirley Vernoy-----	Secretary
Mickey Utzinger-----	Treasurer
Dean Melvin-----	Reporter

Our first money making event was a Bake Sale followed by the many eat stands. All of our Senior boys represented us in this sport.

For the Homecoming dance we had very pretty decorations and good music to follow the Homecoming game with Biggsville in which Media was Victorious which made the evening a big success. Ivagene Livermore was our candidate for Queen.

Basketball season was an expecially money making time, since we got to run the eat stand.

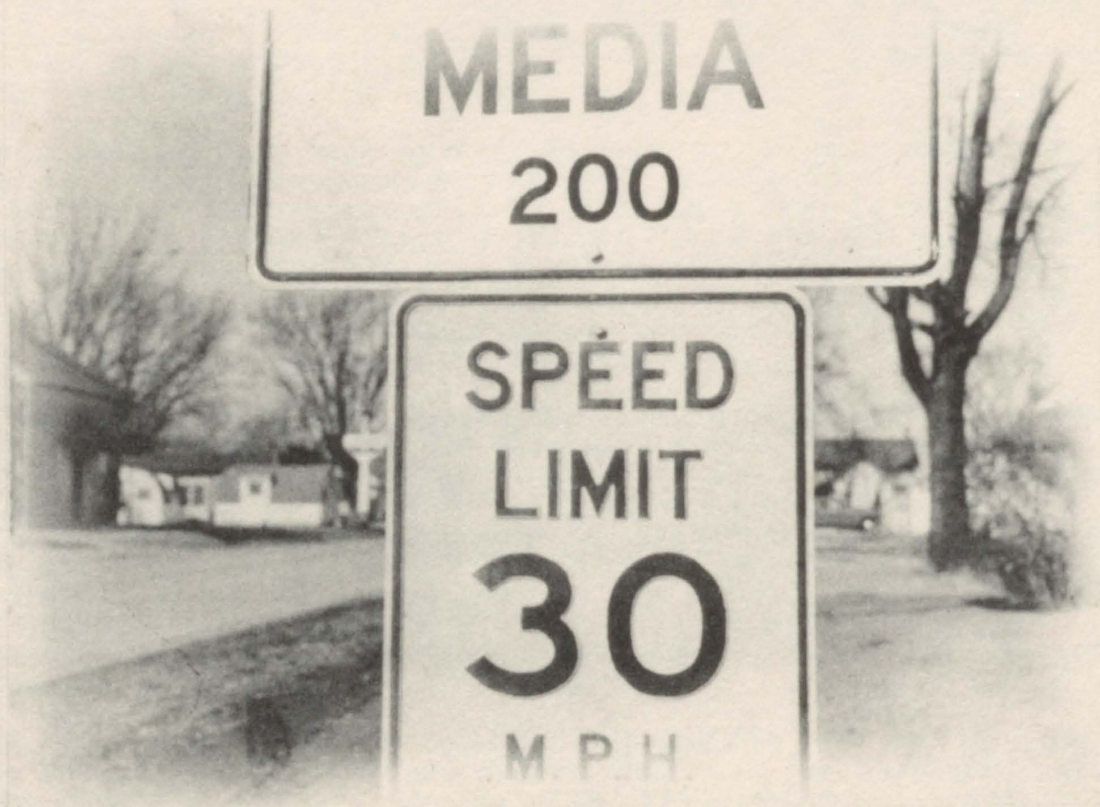

Our biggest money making project was picking up corn. We picked up about five complete days. We made approximatily $500,

In the Annual School Carnival our two new members this year, Carroll Livermore and Shirley Vernoy, represential us for King and Queen.

In sports the boys were very active. Each boy had his own particular job to do for each game.

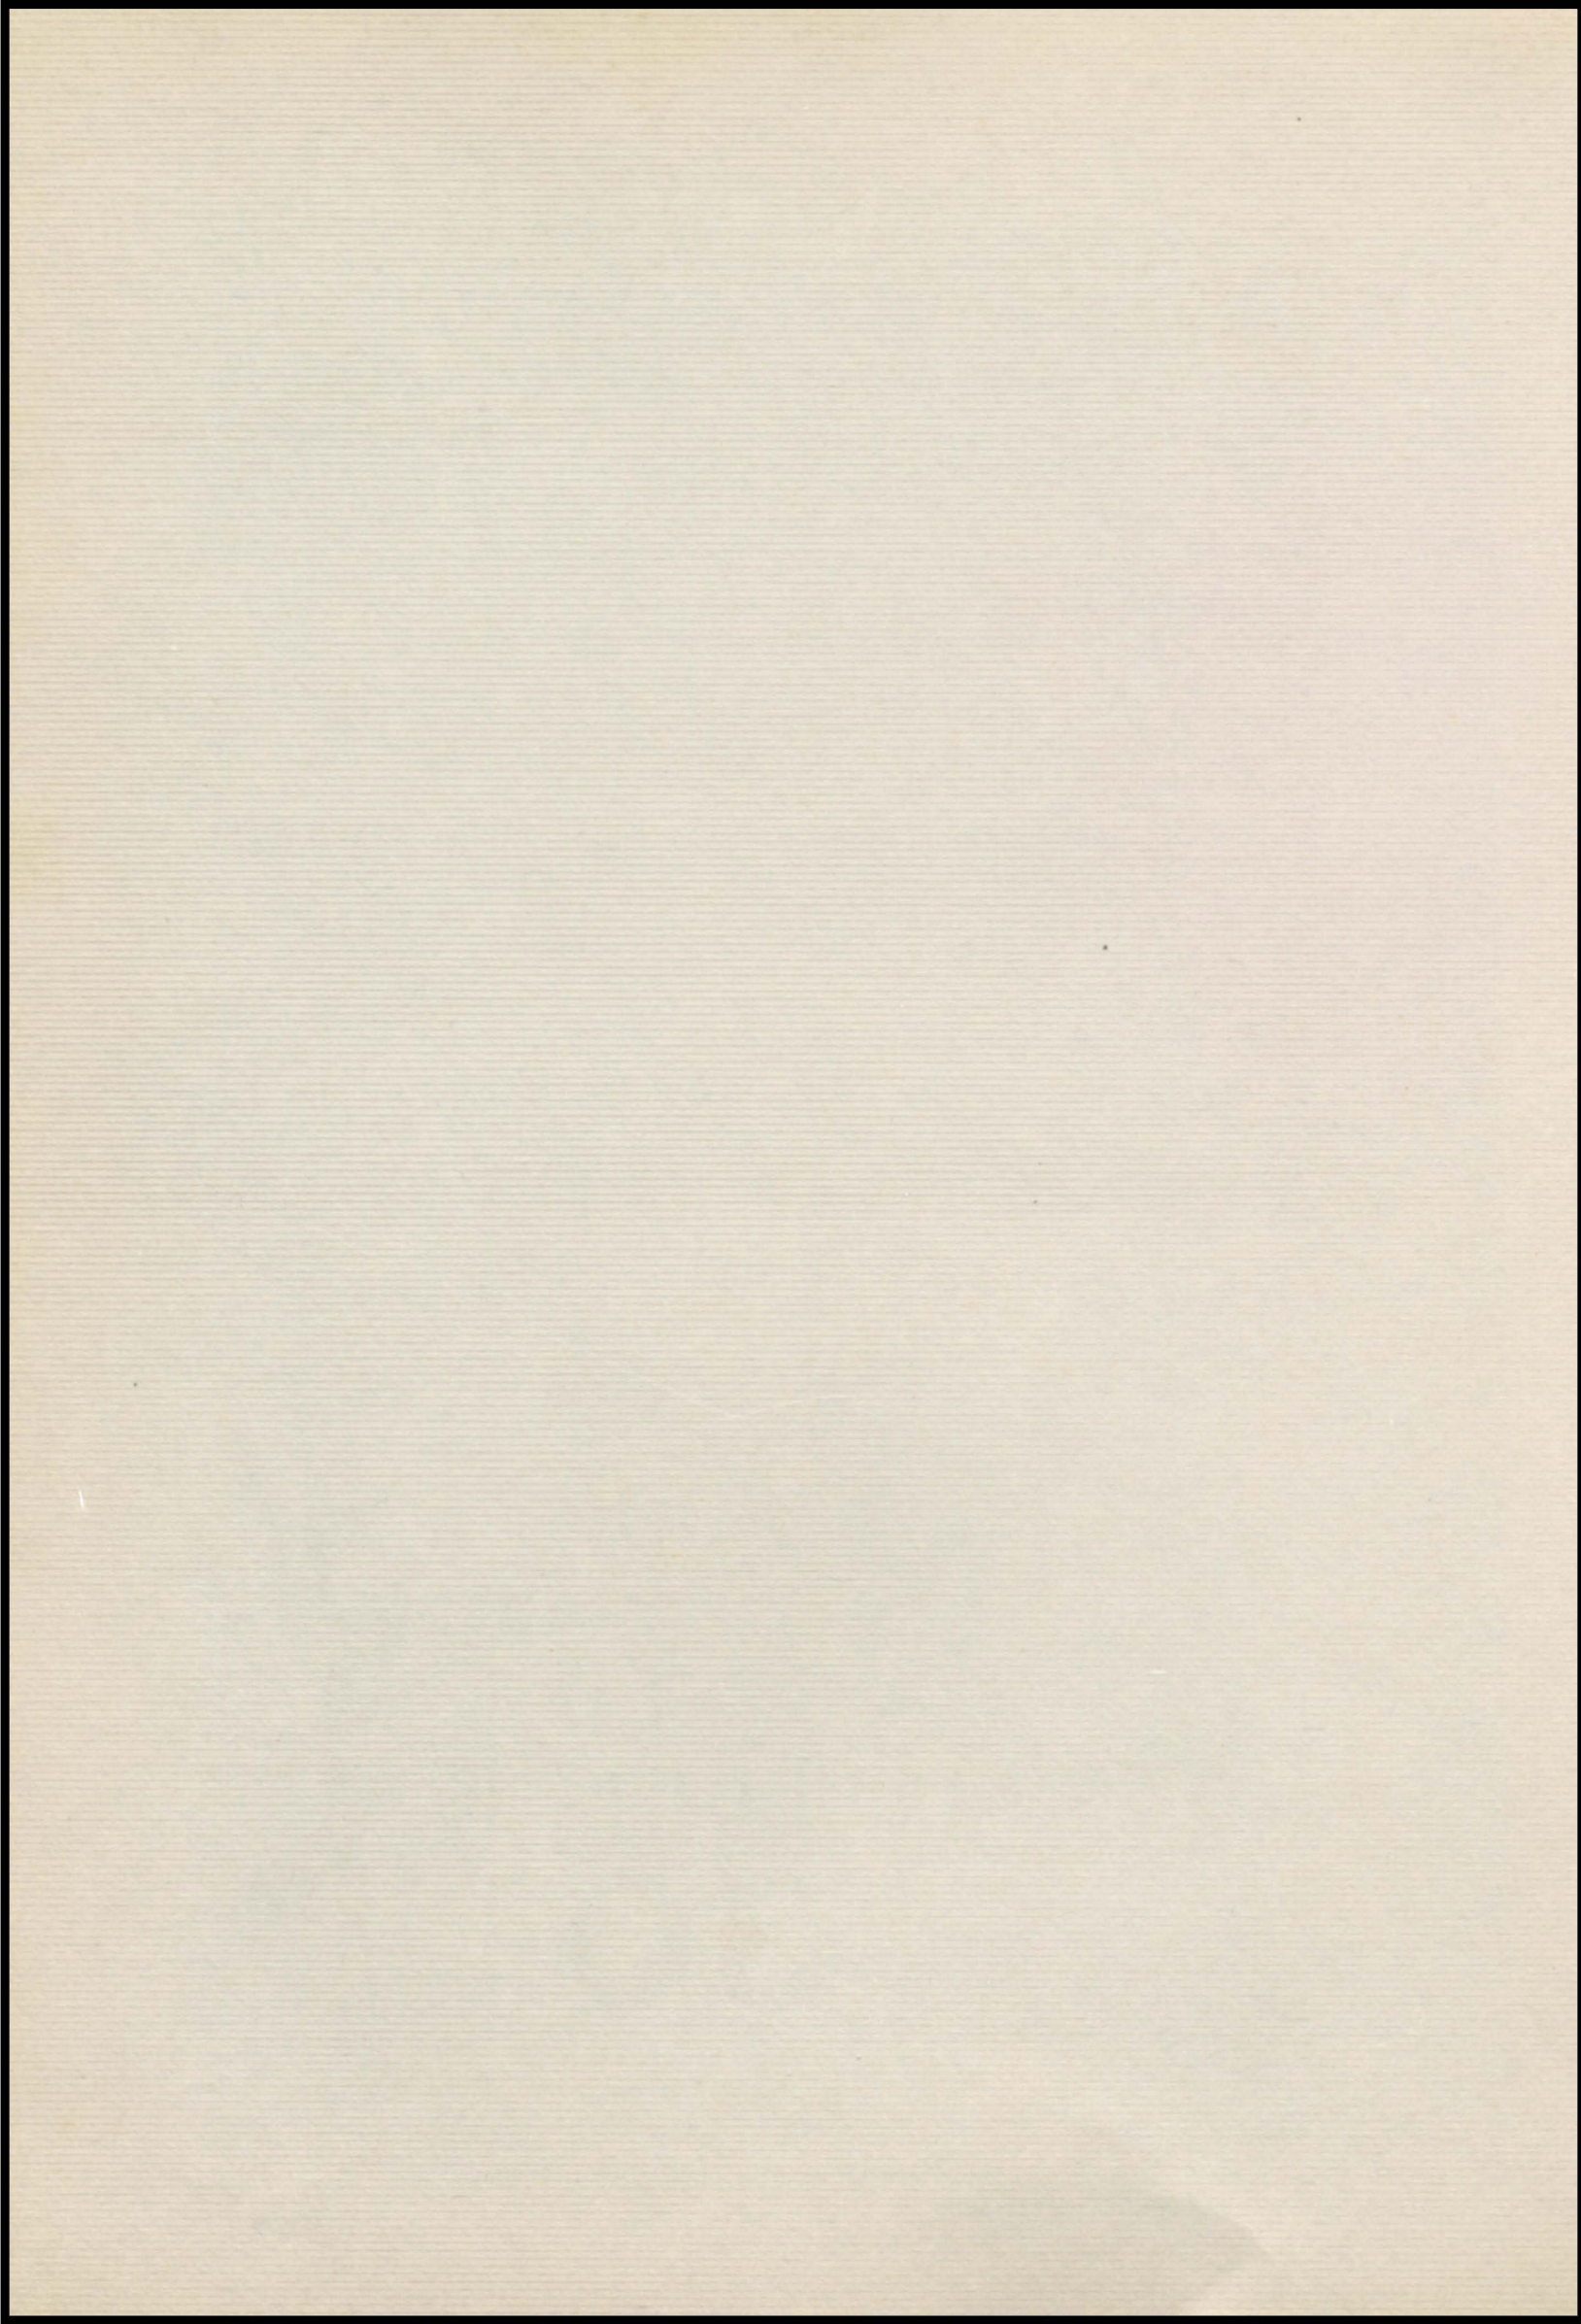

All members were active in the organizations and activities of the school.

The Senior Class of 1950 all regret leaving Media High School of cause we will miss our happy hours of the last four years.

HOW MANY HAVE SEEN THIS SIGN?

CLASS PROPHECY

After having won $10,000 for first place in the New Hampshire Motorcycle races, my wife and I decided we would take a trip around the country.

Driving from our Hereford ranch to Chicago, we boarded a streamliner bound for the West Coast. Getting off the train in San Francisco we decided to go to the "El Morocco" night club for the evening's entertainment. While watching the floor show I almost fell off my seat when I recognized an old schoolmate, Marjorie Thrush, in the chorus line, third from the left. We went backstage to renew our acquaintance and I learned she had been working there for five years and was earning $400 a week. After saying goodbye to Marjorie we went back to our hotel rooms so we would be able to leave by plane for Hollywood early in the morning.

I was lucky enough to get passes to the Warner Brothers motion picture studio to make a tour of it. While wandering through the maze of sets I noticed a familiar figure doing the hair of Tana Lurner, the movie star. Going up to her I found it was Evelyn Lauver. After introducing us to Tana she managed to get the rest of the afternoon off and took us on a tour of Hollywood. The tour was very interesting, but we had to leave early that evening in order to get to Mexico City in time to see the bull fights.

After arriving at Mexico City we went directly to the Arena and bought our tickets and went inside to find our seats. When we found our seats, who should be sitting in the next seat but Shirley Vernoy. I learned that her name was now Alentovetchow and the bull fighter was her husband. In the first few minutes of fighting when the fighter was hit once, all his teeth fell out. I mentioned this horrible fact to Shirley and she said it was all right as he had false teeth. After a good fight Lenardo Alentovetchow, the bull fighter, won. This, of course, made Shirley very happy. After bidding adios we boarded a train for Dallas, Texas, our next stop.

While walking down main street in Dallas, a man came out of a department store and bumped right into me. Immediately, I saw it was Ferrol Cramer, an old school chum. I asked him what he was doing and I found that he had had Earl Pogue's old job as State Policeman in Media, but had recently resigned and come down here to take up the same job. I remembered he became acquainted with such duties while yet in high school. He also told me he had fourteen mechanics getting his racer ready for next year's Indianapolis 300 mile race.

We moved on to El Paso where the train stopped over for about one hour. I wandered down toward the elevator where I ran into Eldon Neff. He was now the operator of the main scales of the elevators. I recalled that Eldon always had a liking for scales and elevators even in high school. He told me he had also run a manufacturing company making firecrackers. He had tried to get Ferrol Cramer to go in with him, but he did not as he had a good job on the police force. He said the company had closed down some months before as it had accidentally blown up. After having a good talk about our school days I had to get back to the train, as they were ready to leave.

Our next stop was at New Orleans. We decided to go to the night club "El Puti." Imagine our surprise to find Julius Eberhard and his band "The Corn Cob Criers" playing for the evening. He had a seven piece orchestra including a jug blower, washboard player, and a man who played different sized tin cans and, of course, Julius's coronet. After exchanging greetings we went back to our hotel for the remainder of the night.

The next morning we went to the travel bureau to see if we could find an interesting place to spend the day. The agent said he knew of a place which he thought would interest us, an alligator farm sixty miles east of New Orleans. We hired a car and drove out there. When we arrived I almost fell over dead when the owner, who was George Torrance, came out to meet us. We had a very interesting conversation about our high school days and George showed me the alligator farm even though George had an awful time keeping the seven children under control. He told me he was alone with the kiddies as his wife Ivagene was in New York giving a concert on the organ. I was not surprised to find he had married the former Ivagene Livermore as they had gone together in high school. I was sorry I would not be able to visit with him any longer, but we had to return to New Orleans to catch a train in Florida.

Arriving in Miami for a few days sight seeing, we learned there was a circus in town and on our last day we went to see it. Among the exhibits that caught our attention was a large sign with a picture of Lefregule the Strong Man lifting 1400 pounds with one hand. Out of curiosity we went in to see if he could really do it. When we got inside we learned it was really Cornelius Saben. He did a really amazing performance and was actually able to raise 1400 pounds with one hand. Meeting him after the show I discovered he and his wife, the former Ruth Wallace, had been traveling with the circus for five years. I asked him where Ruth was and he said she was in their trailer taking care of their four children. Just a nice family to live in a trailer he said. I bet!

Early in the morning, going through South Carolina our train stopped at a small town because there had been a train wreck farther up the line, and we had to wait until the track was cleared which would take about 3 hours. As I went down main street I saw a huge sign which said, Crosley, Maker of Fine Cars. As I went past the building I saw a lovely blonde sales and service girl sitting behind the counter who looked amazingly like Margie Cleland. Going in, I found it really was Margie Cleland, or I should say Margie Utzinger. She told me Mickey was back in the garage trying to perfect a Crosley which you could fold up and carry with you. A crazy idea I thought, but that's what she said and went to get him. When she came back she was with a man I did not recognize. I soon saw that his face was the same but was 6 1/2 feet tall and weighed over 200 pounds. To say I was amazed is not the half of it. I inquired of their home life and found they lived in a 27-room mansion with their children. My time was up so I said goodbye and hurried back to the train which was ready to leave.

After arriving at Washington D. C., I went into the information bureau to find out about some interesting places to visit. And there sitting behind a desk was Margaret McCleary. I was very surprised to find her there at the time but now I remember she always did know a lot of things when we were in high school. I asked her if I would be able to tour the White House and she said no, sight-seer weren't allowed. Which reminded her to tell me that Ethel Brokaw, another classmate, was the piano accompanist for Margaret Truman, the former President's daughter. After saying goodbye we left for New York, as Washington seemed very dangerous with all the congressmen running around at break-neck speed in their cars.

While in New York we attended the Opera "Lafinta" where Luella Brent was playing the leading role. I had heard she was in the opera and I decided to go back stage to see her. When I got back there I was told she was not there as she had just left with her millionaire boyfriend. I was sorry I was not able to see Luella but I had to leave next morning and did not have time to look her up.

We left for home then but on the way we stopped at Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, as I wanted to tour the university there. The Dean was showing us over the campus when we noticed heavy smoke coming out of a building. We rushed in and found it was Betty Cleland who had just ruined a cake. We stayed to talk to her and found out she was the Home Economics teacher there. She told me she had not yet married but was considering an offer from Professor Bolander, the English teacher. She also told me that Carroll Livermore was a teacher there. A dancing instructor to the co-eds no less! She told me he was not married either but had been engaged to 14 different girls here, the last one, to whom he was still chained, a beautiful blonde. As we were anxious to get home to see the three children we said goodbye to Betty and left to catch the first plane home. We arrived home safe and sound and I was happy to find I had $234.17 left out of my winnings.

CLASS WILL

We, the Senior Class of 1950, Media Township High School, City of Media, County of Henderson, State of Illinois, being of sound mind and memory, do hereby make, ordain, publish, and declare this to be our last will and testament.

To the Juniors, we will our love for American History and our good behavior because they will need it.

To the Freshmen and Sophomores, we will absolutely nothing, because by the time they are Seniors they won't need any of our contributions.

I, Ethel Brokaw, will and bequeath all of my steady boy friends to Marian Lauver who, we know, will be able to take care of them.

I, Luella Brent, will and bequeath my quietness to Shirley Rothzen who certainly needs it.

I, Betty Cleland, will and bequeath my ability to get along with Mr. Sharpe to Glen Coey who seems to need it.

I, Margie Cleland, will and bequeath my map of Raritan to Frank Bigger who will need it to get to Wallace's.

I, Ferrol Cramer, will and bequeath my steady girl friends to James Blender, who thinks he has them all.

I, Julius Eberhard, will and bequeath my class ring to anybody who would be willing to wear it.

I, Evelyn Lauver, will and bequeath my steady boy friends to Jean Overton, who thinks she needs some lov'in.

I, Carroll Livermore, will and bequeath my bragging to Duane Torrance who brags too much.

I, Ivagene Livermore, will and bequeath my book-worm habits to Doc Mesecher, who always has his nose in a book.

I, Margaret McCleary will and bequeath my love for "Lyles" to Mary Ellen Gittings, who already has a good start.

I, Dean Melvin, will and bequeath my ability to keep everybody "lively" to Lawrence Sparrow as he can stand a little liveliness.

I, Eldon Neff, will and bequeath my talking out of turn to Joe McCleary who never stops talking.

I, Cornelius Saben, will and bequeath my stature with all my muscles to Lewis Arnold, who needs both.

I, Marjorie Thrush, will and bequeath my diet chart to Maryln Gittings, hoping she will use it as faithfully as I have.

I, George Torrance, will and bequeath my seat on the bus to Pete Utzinger, who will probably use it.

I, Mickey Utzinger, will and bequeath my lollypop equally divided between John Brokaw and Giles Brent, provided they return the stick to Mr. Hart next year.

I, Shirley Vernoy, will and bequeath my height to Gary Wisslead as I think he could use some of it.

CLASS POEM

As the twenty-third of May nears
We're not as happy as in former years;
We're being nagged by constant fears,
Our eyes often fill with floods of tears.
How, oh how, our hearts do ache!
Are we, or are we not, going to graduate?

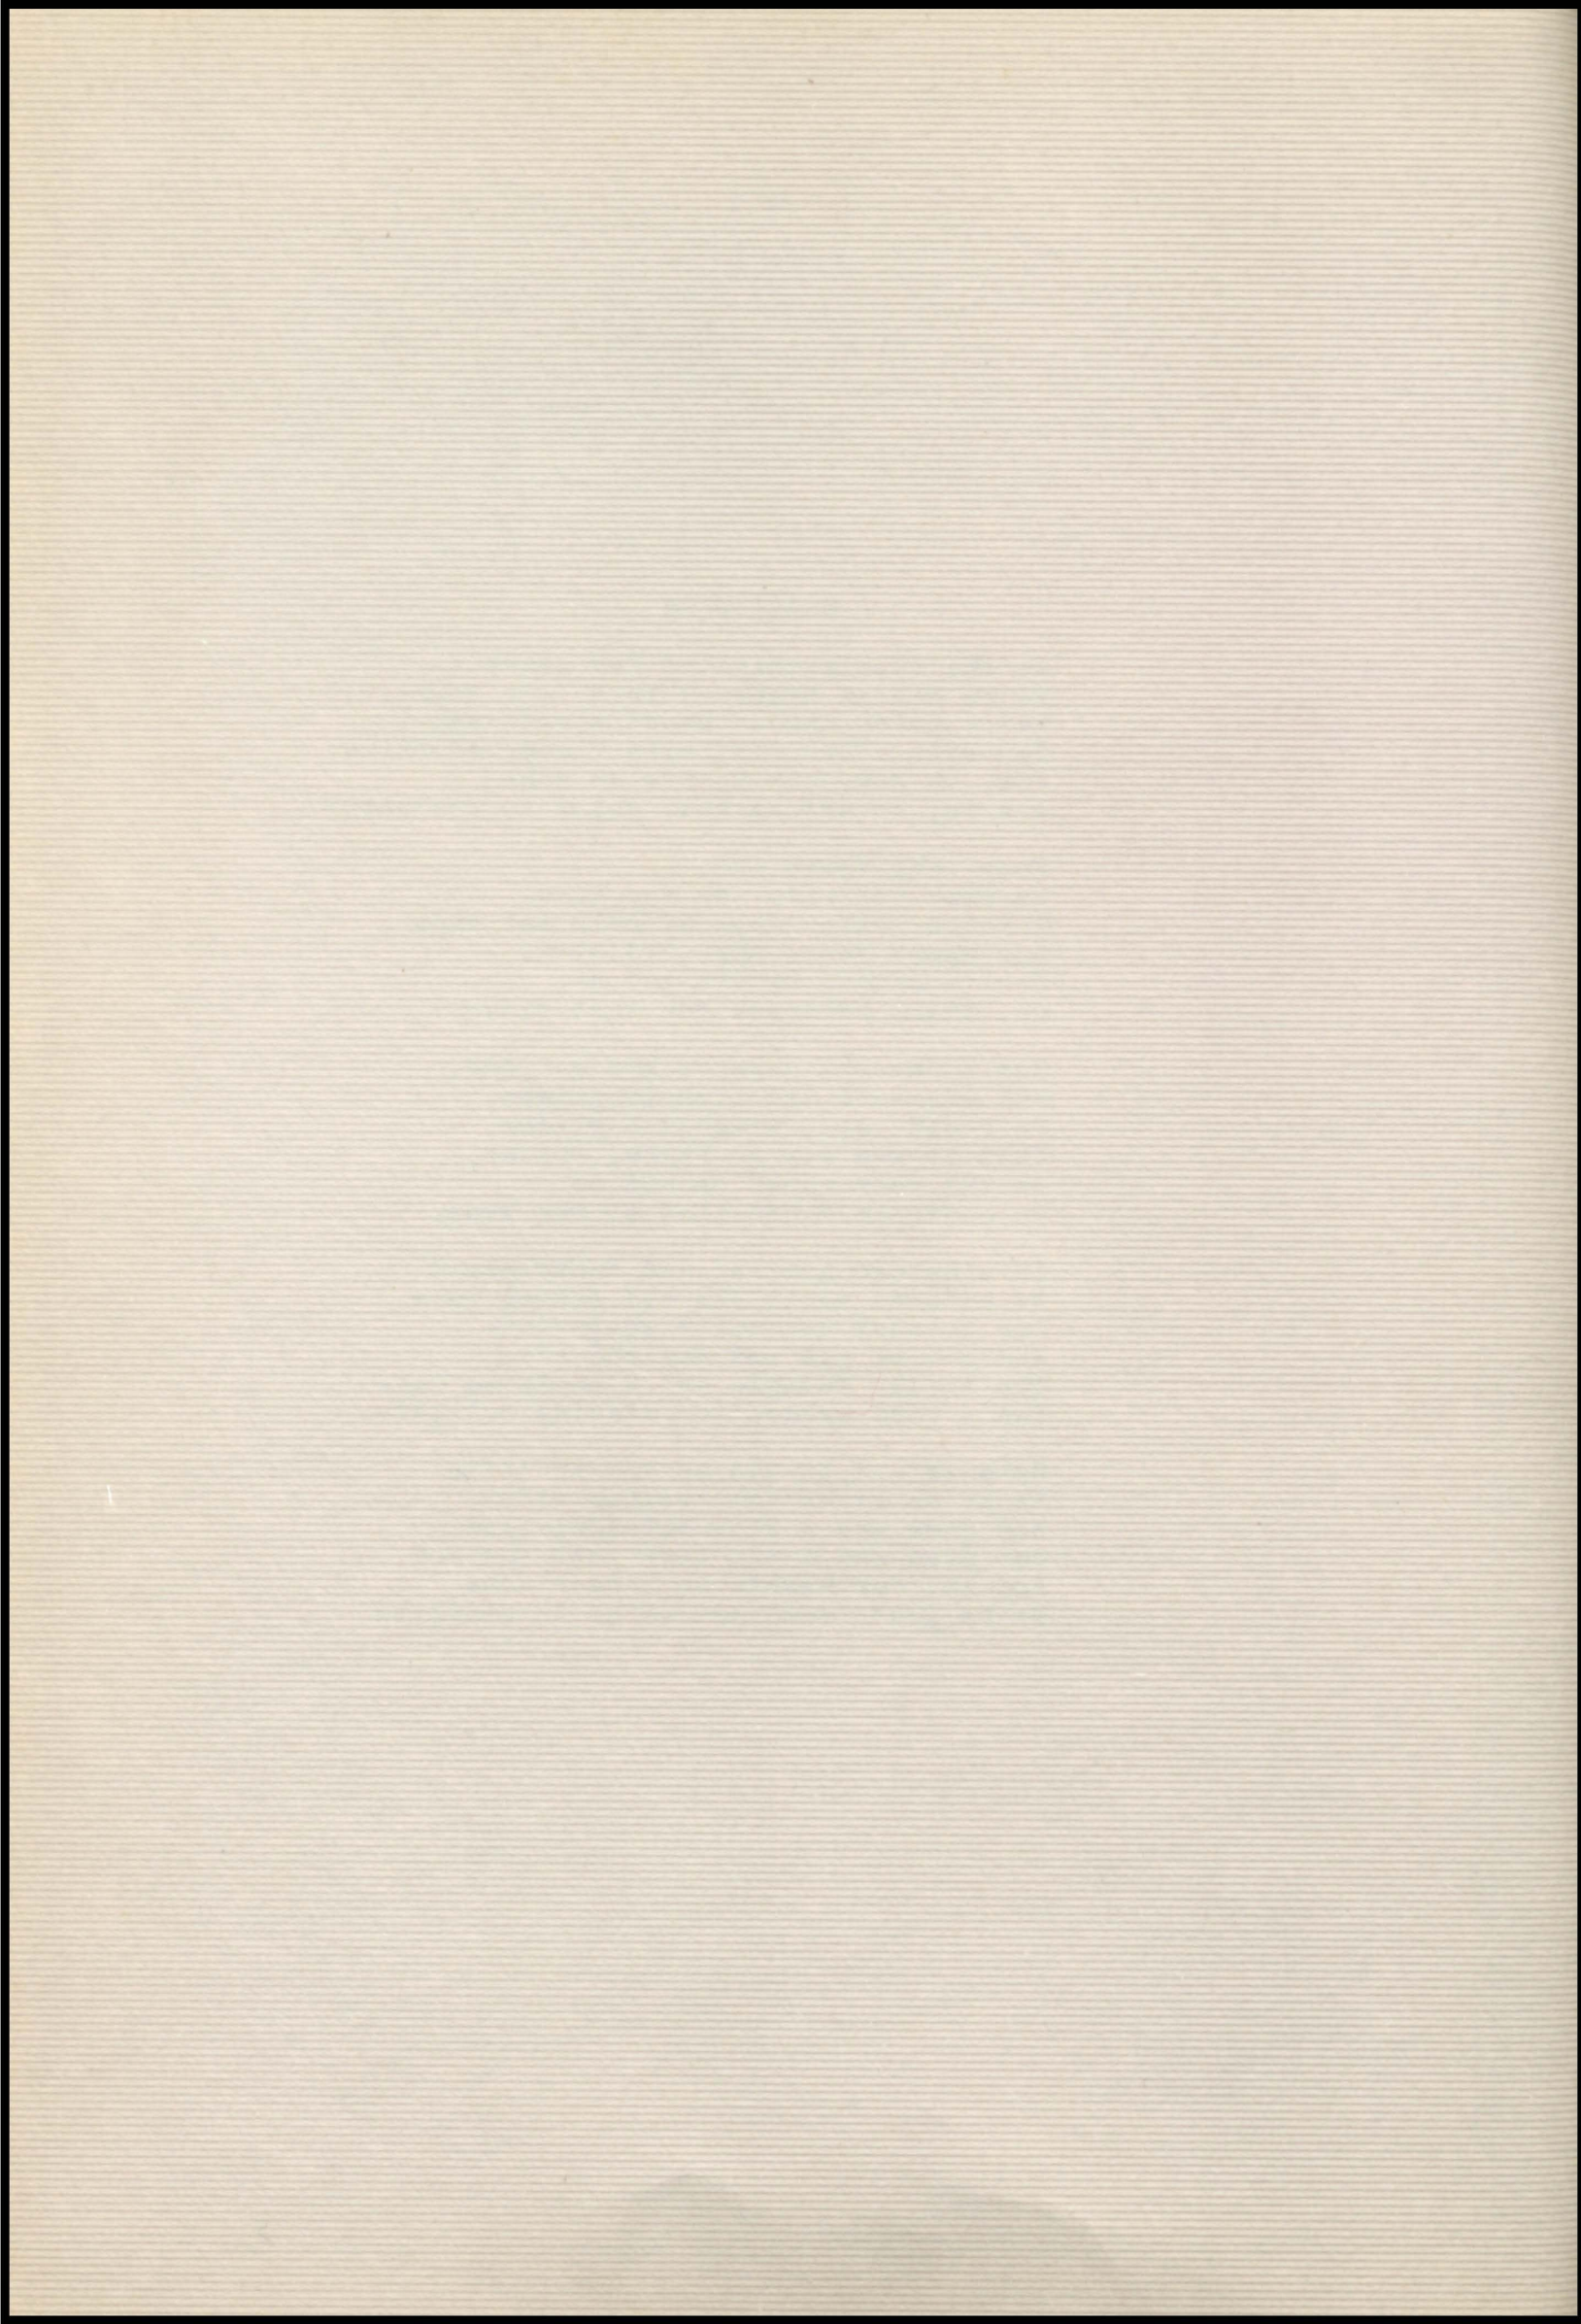

Four long years ago,
We were freshmen, as you know.
Through winter days of rain and snow
Our happy faces they did glow.
For to school we did not go.
Oh, thank goodness for that blow!

Our sophomore year we had a dance,
And everyone did lightly prance.
We could tell, without a glance,
That it was gay as Paris, France.
As the year raced on and on
We suddenly found that it was gone.

In nineteen hundred and forty-eight
We entered again the old school gate.
Our banquet was quite up-to-date
And how we ate and ate and ate!
The frilly formals and a handsome date
Was a good excuse for staying out late.

Here we are in the spring of fifty
Happy as larks and feeling nifty.
And some are a tiny bit surprised
Our Caps and Gowns have just arrived,
And lo, our hearts no longer ache
We've just found out we're to graduate.

JUNIOR CLASS

It was the 29th day of August when "Good Old Media High" opened her doors and seventeen Jolly Juniors ran in.

After the doors were closed we were all ready to start our Junior year. At our first class meeting we chose the following officers.

President-----	John Brokaw
Vice-President-----	Gene Heap
Secretary-----	Mary Ellen Gittings
Treasurer-----	Pete Utzinger
Reporter-----	Darlys Torrance

We elected Mr. Walker as our class adviser.

The first event, which the Juniors sponsored was the annual All-School Carnival. Our candidates for king and queen were Ruth Wallace and James Livermore. Of course, all the Juniors were proud when Ruth was crowned Queen of the carnival, and we were more than proud, too, when Jean Overton was crowned Queen of the Homecoming dance.

One of our successful money making tasks during the year was picking corn.

The boys were active in all sports this year. Nearly all the Juniors participated in Band and Chorus.

This was the year for us to get our class rings and we were proud of them.

The Junior Class Play, "Strictly Confidential" was given March 31, with Mr. Sharpe as our director.

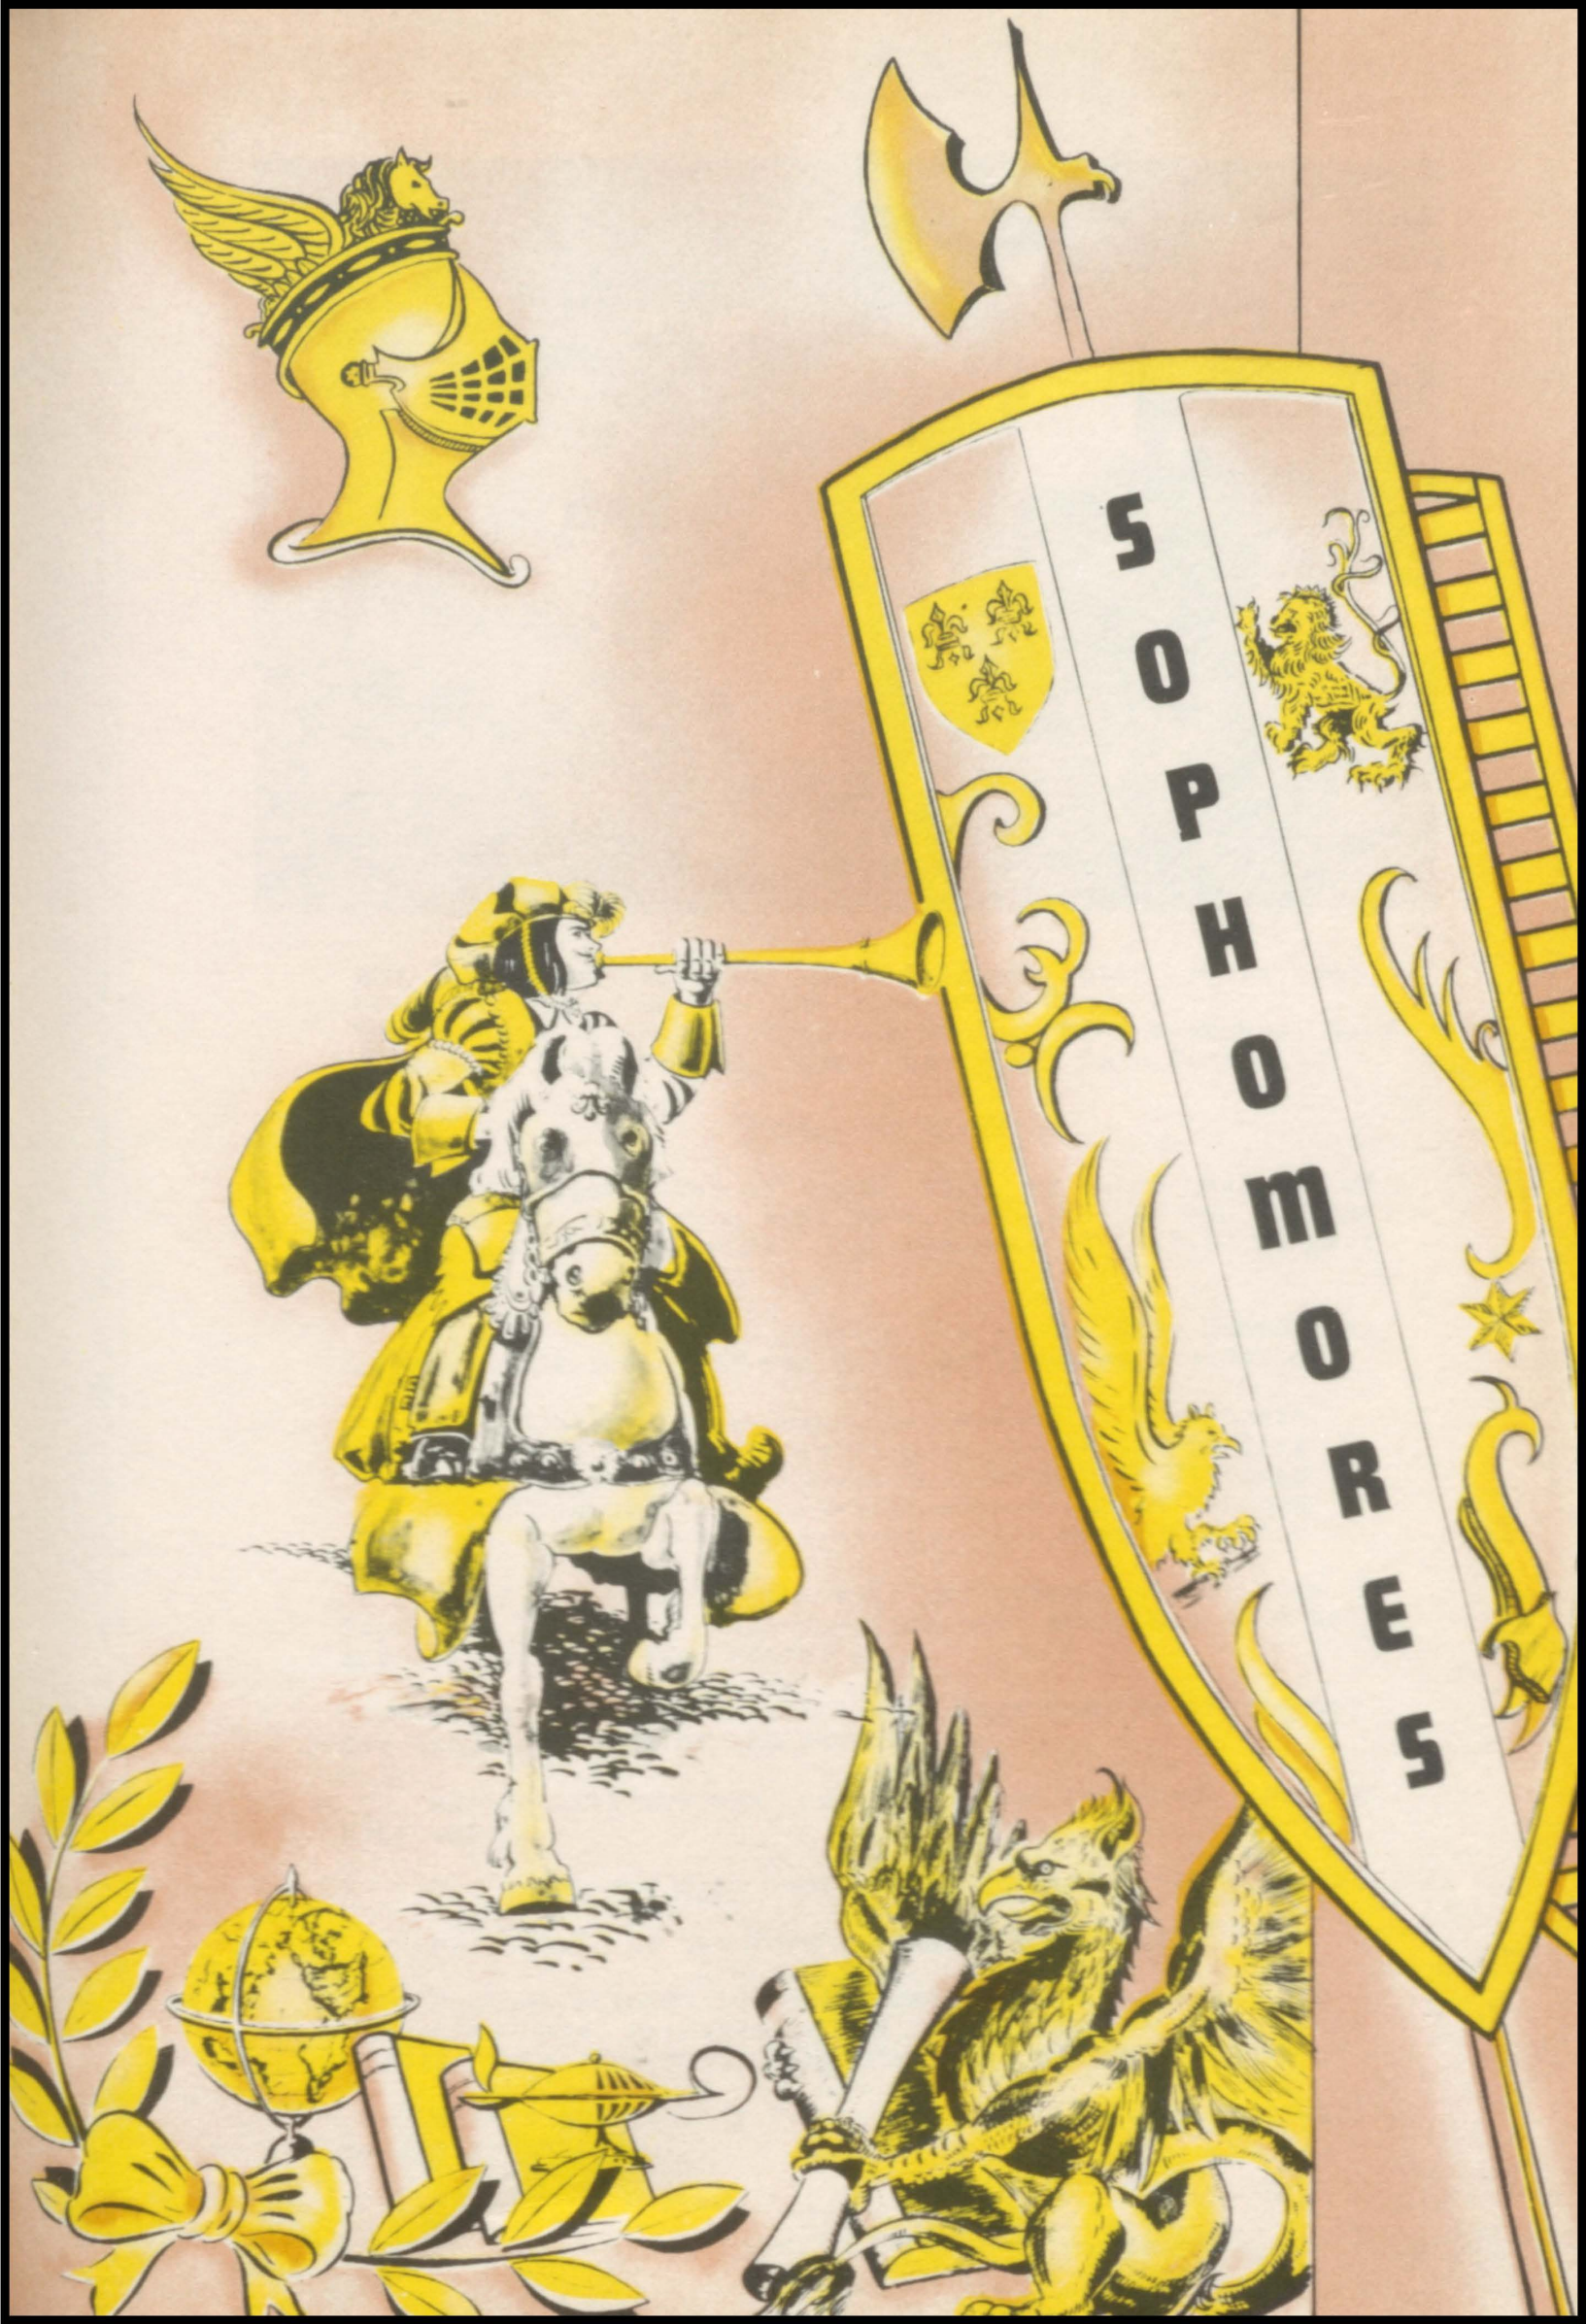

The Annual Junior-Senior Banquet was held in the Burlington Hotel at 6:30 P.M. on May 13, 1950.

Feeling we had successfully completed our Junior year, we are looking forward to our Senior year to make it the most successful year in M.H.S.

When school began on August 29th, we found that all of our class was back from last year, and that we had gained one new member, Glen Coey. For the year of 1949-50 we have 13 members.

At our first class meeting we chose Miss Schwarz as our class advisor. The following officers were elected:

President-----	Dick Overstreet
Vice President-----	Glen Coey
Secretary-----	Marlyn Gittings
Treasurer-----	Dale Johnson

The first event of the year was freshman initiation on September 9th. The freshman-sophomore party was held November 4th in the high school gym.

We chose Vivian Waterman and Glen Coey as candidates for King and Queen of the carnival.

Marlyn Gittings was our candidate for Queen for the Homecoming.

Our class was well represented in school activities.

Nearly all of the boys were active in sports.

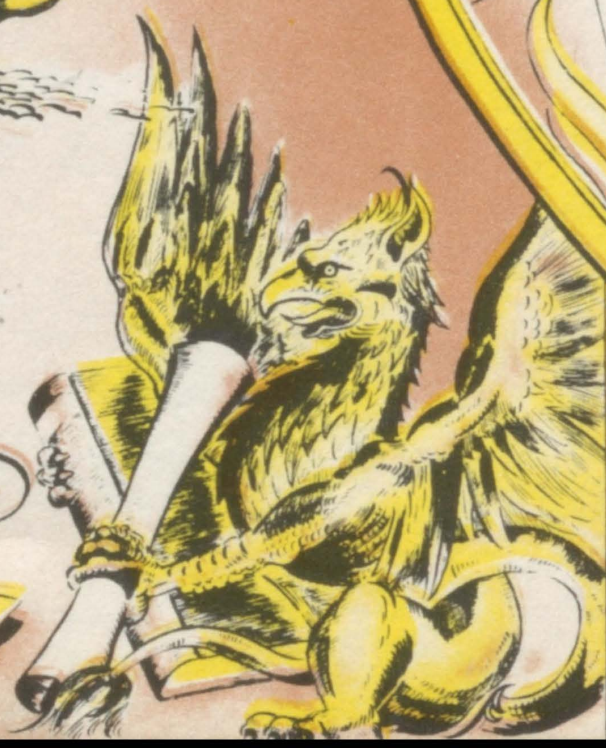

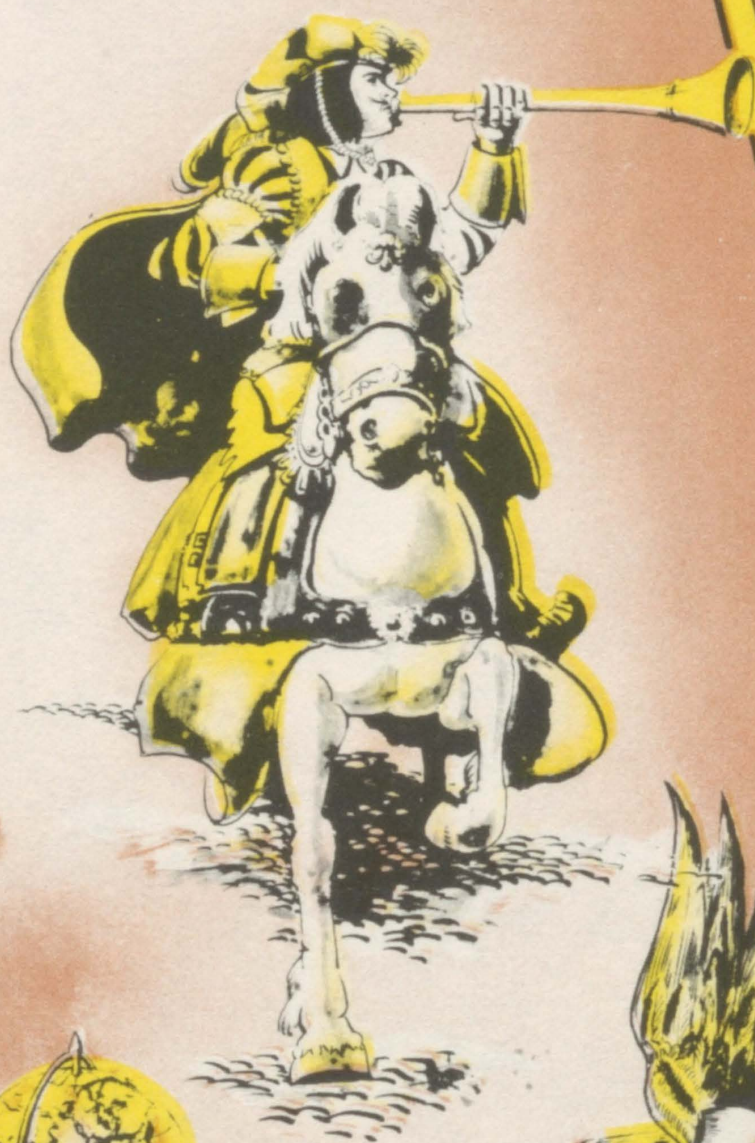

Contest soloist in music was: Duane Torrance. In speech we were represented by: John Cleland, Dick Overstreet, Duane Torrance, Lois Campbell, and Dale Johnson.

We are now looking forward to the time when we will be Jolly Juniors.

Reporter-----	Shirley Rothzen

We were initiated on September 9. In return we gave the Sophomores a party at the high school on November 4.

For the Homecoming dance we chose Darlene Boone to represent us as the Freshman queen.

We chose Jean Ann Gibb and James Corzatt to represent our class as delegates for king and queen of the carnival.

During this year we lost one member Eugene Sparrow, so we ended the year with twenty green freshmen ready to become silly sophomores.

FOOTBALL

On August twenty-fifth Coach issued a call for football. Twenty-seven boys responded to his call in which six were letter men from last year's team, namely, Ferrol Cramer, George Torrance, Dean Melvin, Corneluis Saben, Juluis Eberhard, and James Livermore. After having one year of six-man football we were ready to go. About two weeks later we played our first game. Media joined the Valley Conference which brought several new rivals. All the games this year were played at night.

Our managers were Eldon Neff and Mickey Utzinger. Dean Melvin and George Torrance were captains of the team. The results of the games were as follows:

Advisor-----	S. M. Walker

There are thirty-one members in Vocational Agriculture, thirty of whom are members of the Future Farmers of America. The freshmen were initiated at the first meeting of the year, and among them were some excellent students for the department. The influence of older brothers was plainly seen in the fact that several freshmen had projects before the school term opened.

Among the big events of the year was our annual F. F. A. Banquet which was held on December 1, 1949. Mr. H. F. Dossey and Mr. Ed Keane were made honorary members of our organization. Our program consisted of colored slides which were taken in and around school. Especially emphasized were pictures of the members' projects which were taken from September, 1948, through November, 1949.

As in years past, a single stall hog-house was built by the F. F. A. and raffled off at the school carnival. Harold Bagely of Sciota was the winner.

George Torrance qualified this year for the State Farmer Degree. It should be pointed out that only 2% of the F. F. A. members in Illinois can be so awarded.

The High School farm is the most unusual thing about Media High School as there are only three such farms in the state. None of the others are of commercial size. Throughout the year the students have been working on the farm. This work includes maintenance work such as building cattle guards, making gates, and constructing small buildings. Later in the year the agriculture classes will run soil tests over fields on the farm.

Many people have shown a high degree of interest in the High School Farm. During early 1949 an excellent article on the farm and school shop appeared in the FARM SECTION of the "Galesburg Daily Register-Mail". This article, with excellent accompanying photographs, caught the attention of the "Successful Farming Magazine", and they have prepared an article to appear in May, 1950. The F. F. A. has recently been contracted by the John Deere publication, "The Furrow", for preparation of a similar article.

The High School shop has been remodeled during the past term by the agriculture classes. New cabinets have been installed in the shop, and its interior is to be painted in the future.

The school board has bought over a hundred dollars' worth of tools with which we made the cabinets. They have been helping us in every way in our efforts to have an attractive and a useful shop.

Ag. III and IV at work in the shop.

The 3 C's stand for Courtesy, Cooperation, and Cleanliness. The ones picked were Dean Melvin, Eldon Neff, James Livermore, Duane Torrance, Josie McCleary, Ruth Wallace, Darlys Torrance, and Kathleen Brown. During National F. H. A. week we held a bake sale, packed a box to Poland, and cleaned out and bedded down our roses.

This year we have adopted several Polish families and have been sending boxes to them. The contents of these boxes were canned foods, dried foods, all kinds of clothing, and school supplies.

We sent Darlys Torrance and Nancy Campbell to the Regional Convention at Columbus, Ohio, last summer. Nancy took part in the program for Illinois. Vieve Lindgren went to Bloomington to the State Leadership Camp and was also a delegate to the House of Delegates meeting in Macomb in September where she was elected president of Section IX.

We are working on our Junior and Chapter degrees. Mrs. Richard Blender class of '49 was awarded the State Homemakers degree at the State Leadership Camp this last summer.

We are sending two delegates to the National Convention at Kansas City, Mo., and at least one delegate to the State Leadership Camp.

Our rose bushes were very greatly enjoyed by students, teachers, and parents. We sent roses to sick mothers and gave all teachers roses for their rooms.

At the beginning of the school year we sponsored the try outs for cheerleading. Evelyn Lauver, Phyllis Link, Vieve Lindgren, and Shirley Vernoy were elected to be our cheerleaders.

The fifth annual Guest and Mother's Night was March 21, at which we performed activities we had practiced in Physical Education Class during the year. On April 15 we attended a play day at Abingdon and on April 29 we hiked to Stronghurst. In May we had the annual G. A. A. luncheon at Macomb and installed the officers for the school year 1950-1951. #### SENIOR CLASS PLAY

A three act farce, "Aunt Susie Shoots The Works" was presented on November 16, 1949, under the direction of Mr. Elmer Sharpe. This play was written by Fred Caldwell.

Synopsis: When Aunt Susie "shot the works" she exploded a bombshell of resounding mirth that caused the audience to rock with laughter. And since this was a mystery farce it was entirely different from any other "Aunt" play ever written. Aunt Susie Stowe, an eccentric and man-hating spinster, lived entirely alone. When she learned that her late lamented schoolmate, Cora King, had willed her her property, she wired her favorite neice, Joy Herbert, who lived some fifty miles distant, telling her to meet her on the following afternoon at the King residence. Joy arrived, accompanied by her colored maid, Scarlet, and while waiting in the supposedly deserted house for Aunt Susie they were confronted with a series of mysterious and hair-raising events. Just as they were getting ready to make a terrified departure Aunt Susie arrived, calmed their fears and boasted that she had inherited not only the late Cora's house but the factory next door as well, which turned out to be, of all things a sausage works! Aunt Susie planned to manufacture sausages when Cora King's lawyer descended on them and related that Aunt Susie would inherit the property providing she was married to one of Cora's cousins, a man named Omar Graves, within thirty days. Aunt Susie hit the ceiling and prepared for a battle. To make matters worse, Joy was secretly engaged to young Johnny Rogers, who turned up unexpectedly bent on a mysterious mission and disguised as an old man. Aunt Susie mistook the hapless John for Omar Graves and poor Johnny was on the verge of nervous prostration when the real Omar Graves arrived accompanied by his colored man-servant, La Salle. Lights flashed off and on, characters disappeared into nowhere, strange visitors ran in and out and at midnight weird sounds were heard coming from the factory next door. Aunt Susie was determined to investigate and went into the factory alone. The climax was reached when the eccentric spinster "shoots the works," and sent the audience into spasms of laughter.

JUNIOR CLASS PLAY Synopsis

Bill Rowland likes his home, his family, his mother, and his law practice, but he simply cannot stand his cook, Mrs. Weatherby-Gall, who runs the household with a high hand. And now another troublesome person comes to spend the summer. This is Janie, Gertie Rowland's young sister who loves to listen in on telephone conversations and open other people's mail. Bill has been getting letters from a mysterious girl and it is Janie who discovers that the girl is Shirley Moon, and old high school sweetheart of Bill's, who is now secretary to Mr. Blair, the big automobile man. Bill explains to Gertie that his business with Shirley is "strictly confidential." The truth is that Shirley has told Bill that Mr. Blair wants to buy property large enough to put up a big auto assembly plant. Bill has a client, Amanda Babcock, who owns an old canning factory and wants to sell. Bill wants to buy an option on the property for a thousand dollars, but Miss Babcock will not give him the option unless some wealthy person promises to put up the rest of the purchase price in case Bill defaults.

Bill wires his wealthy aunt, but the aunt disappoints him by going elsewhere. So Bill induces an actor friend of his to pretend to be the aunt. Janie overhears the plot and tells Robert Brooks, young brother of Gilda Dowling, who is the wife of Bill's law partner, Jerry Dowling. Jerry learns of the deal from Robert and wants to get in on it. When the "aunt" arrives, he tries to show "her" up by treating her rough and trying to yank off her wig. To his great surprise, however, this happens to be the real aunt who changed her mind at the last moment and decided to visit Bill and let him have the money. These are only the highlights of the story which is a merry, mad mixup of misunderstanding and surprises. This is a must play.

is published each week in the Raritan Reporter. After the news is collected it is corrected and then typed by the Typing II Class. Mr. Mullin is the sponsor. The Spotlight consists of news from every class and organization in the school. This year a new feature was added which we called "Feature". Quite often information was written about the Alumni of the previous graduating classes that might be of interest to the readers.

The Wever staff began its work on the "Wever" at the start of the second semester. It was under the direction of Mr. Charles Mullin.

This year instead of mimeographing our annual, we sent it to the "Inter-Collegiate Press," at Kansas City, Missouri. The Typing II Class assembled the material and placed it on lay-out mats and sent them to the company.

The Media High School has approximately 1,350 books in the library at the present. Around fifty of them are new ones. Among these have been the Abridged Readers' Guide to Periodical Literature.

Reference books may be used in the library and study hall. Students have the opportunity of using all current magazines if they are signed out on the sign-out sheet.

Student librarians, in shifts, take care of charging out books. The library is very adequate in books, magazines, and reference materials that are up to date. The Agriculture and Home Economics departments have their books in their respective rooms.

The same system was used this year as that of the latter part of last school year for checking our library shelves. Various students were assigned shelves which they were to check. Points were awarded to them the same as a librarian. They were to check the shelves twice a week.
