PREFACE

One of the most important things we have to learn is the importance and the dignity of hard work. It is not the business of the schools to teach people how to live without working, but it is rather to teach them to work. The production of a high school annual necessitates a considerable amount of careful planning and work by both students and teachers. The value of work and cooperation has been amply demonstrated in the working out of this project.

Our hope is that those who purchase a volume of the "Wever" will get as much value from it as did those who worked on its production. We hope the friends and patrons of Media High School will find it an interesting and accurate record of our activities and that it will show in some small way what your school is trying to do in building a democratic citizenry.

HISTORY

Friday, August 31, 1937 thirty-one timid children climbed out of the bus and several cars to enroll as freshmen at Media High School. Some had conquered their fears the first week and some still hadn't when school was out the next spring.

The following week we elected our class officers--Margaret Heap, president; Margaret Ross, vice president; George Lawyer, secretary; and Evelyn Campbell, treasurer. Miss Martin was our class adviser.

Our class was active in football, basketball, music, speech, and track. Many members took part in "Green Cheese" and the school carnival. Our candidate for king was Donald Cavins and for queen Margaret Heap. Of course, we had several parties and a picnic to help us get acquainted.

September 1, 1938 found us back at Media as silly sophomores. George Lawyer, Cletus St. Ledger, James Ellis, Glen Shenbarger, and Mildred Voorhees had left our ranks. Mildred had enrolled at Oquawka. We gained Bonnie Mileur from Murphysboro, Florine Van Arsdale of Blandinsville, Jack Hofeditz of Raritan and Dale Sandy of Gladstone.

We elected Donald Cavins, president; Margaret Ross, vice president; Erva Mae Montgomery, secretary; and Max Kilgore, treasurer. Mrs. Pogue was selected for our advisor.

Bonnie Mileur and Keith Gibb represented the class as candidates for carnival king and queen. In sports and other extra-curricular activities our class was active.

September 1, 1939 we again entered the doors of M.H.S. as jolly juniors. After taking the roll, we found that Florine Van Arsdale had been married during the summer, and Bonnie Mileur had returned to her home in Murphysboro.

This year we chose Margaret Ross, president; Dallas Gipe, vice president; Doris Dixon, secretary; and Orville Shook, treasurer with Miss Rensch as our class adviser.

Margaret Ross and Max Kilgore were chosen as class candidates for carnival king and queen. Margaret was selected queen of the carnival.

Dan Cupid took our adviser Miss Rensch, to become Mrs. Elbert Duncan. Miss Martin, assisted by Miss Johnson, was our class adviser for the remainder of the year.

During the year Jane Rice became Mrs. Chet Hyatt and Jack Hoffeditz dropped out of the class. Dale Sandy moved to Stronghurst.

Other major events of the year were: "The Jinx", the class play; the all-important choosing of class rings; and the Junior-Senior banquet at Hotel La Moine in Macomb.

September 2, 1940 found twenty-two of us back as old and dignified Seniors. Maxine Nunn secured a job, but Mildred Voorhees came back from Oquawka, thus our number remained unchanged.

Officers for this year were: Dallas Gibe, president; Orville Shook, vice-president; Margaret Ross, secretary and treasurer.

Many of our number brought honor to the class. Erva Mae Montgomery, Margaret Ross, and Raamah Galbraith were our yell leaders for the year. Erva Mae won first in oration, while Orville placed first in vocal solo. Raamah Galbraith and Orville Shook were our representatives for candidates as carnival king and queen.

On May the twenty-sixth we will depart for our trip East, which will crown our activities for the four years.

WILL

We, the Senior Class of Media High School, on this twenty-third day of May, nineteen hundred and forty-one being sound of mind and memory; and fearing that we may soon be on our way, do ordain, publish, and declare this to be our last will and testament.

We, the Senior cheer leaders, do will and bequeath our small slip of paper containing names of yells to next year's cheer leaders, hoping it comes in as handy as it did this year.

I, Bonnie Beresford, will my becoming smile to Richard Henry. I hope it helps Richard as much as it has me.

I, Evelyn Campbell, will to "Sis" Link my love for school in case she needs it.

I, Donald Cavins, will to "Elmo" Harden my noon hour study hall seat as long as he doesn't use it between classes.

I, Helen Cook, leave to Eulagene Churchill my ability to laugh and chew gum, hoping the Biggsville boys don't get tired of it.

I, Wayne Cook, leave to Hollis Thrush my Monday morning absences, also my basketball ability to Joe Campbell.

I, Doris Dixon, leave my ability as pianist to Dorothy Trego, providing she doesn't bore Eldon too much with this style of entertainment.

I, Betty Doubet, will my skill as a stenographer to Marie Bricker providing she confines all business secrets to the office.

I, Rasmah Galbraith, will my dancing ability to "Willy" hoping she knows when and where to use her talent.

M I, Orville Shook, leave my dimples to "Wally W.", that is, if he never uses them in order to catch the eyes of the girls.

I, Wayne Gearhart, leave my Sophomore girl to anyone who wants her as long as he keeps the hour schedule.

I, Dallas Gipe, will my pleasing personality and way with the women to Bonnie Heap who might find that it will come in handy someday.

I, Margaret Heap, will my ability to keep the "Links" of a chain in place to a little girl in Raritan.

I, Ruth Heald, will my ability of taming a "Fox" to Barbara Waymack because I know she has had interest in some wild animals.

I, Herbert Isaacson, will my technique in History Class to Bob Neff who might find it comes in handy.

I, Max Kilgore, bequeath my temper and stubbornness to Daniel Hendrickson who will need it to carry out the old tradition.

I, Roy Moores, will my interest in the library to Alice Wilson, who is developing an interest in that field.

I, Erva Mae Montgomery, leave to Margaret Schenck my girlish figure and my ability in oration to Lillian Brokaw.

I, Margaret Ross, will my studious nature and my interest in Smithshire to "Odie" Heap.

I, Mildred Voorhees, leave my giggling ability to Effie Joanne Talbott and my way with the men to Pauline Gearhart.

I, Ernest Melvin, leave my verbose vocabulary to "Crummie" Heap who might need help along this line.

I, Eugene Sullivan, will my Model T Ford to Bob Russell who needs a convenient way to school.

I, Max Pogue, will my arguing ability to Dick Heald who may need it to get a diploma.

The Senior Class of Media High School leaves to all the student body their lockers, scraps of paper, stub pencils and empty ink bottles. Two of the Senior girls who have study hall desks will them to two Junior girls.

CLASS PROPHECY

Time: May 20, 1951 -- Reunion of the Class of 1941

I had been for some time operating a restaurant "L'Fox Oda," at Miami, Florida, and one morning as I was looking through my mail I discovered a letter from home. It contained an invitation to attend a reunion on May 20 of the Class of '41 to be held in the Municipal Park in Media, a large and thriving city of 25,000. I picked up my morning newspaper, and in big black type before my eyes was an announcement which set me to thinking more strongly about making this trip.

"The noted Test Pilot Cavins, who has been here in Miami, testing the durability of the airplane paint which is to withstand all temperatures and climates, is leaving next Saturday, May 19, to make tests in the colder regions in Northern Canada and Alaska. On the way north, he plans to make a day's stop at Media, Illinois, there to attend a reunion of his classmates to be held May 20."

I got in touch with Cavins at once, and he said I might make the trip with him if I liked, so I decided to go. We arrived at the Municipal Airport, a new government project adjacent to the beautiful and modern park in Media, where we were directed to the largest hotel in Media. We found it to be the "Palmer House," with none other than one of our classmates, Evelyn Campbell, as the manager's wife. Here I first heard of the growth of my home town Raritan, which boasted of a large factory which was doing thriving business.

At dusk we walked down to the high school, but it didn't look the same. Many improvements and a new addition had been made. We discovered Superintendent Ernest Melvin in his modern office pouring over his plan of testing students in a method entirely different from the written tests we took while in school.

Ernest stopped his work long enough to tell me about some of my classmates. Max Pogue had recently given a lecture on the co-subjects of temperance and war life. He had been honored after his services in the R. A. F. of the last war, and had recently been touring the country giving lectures. Orville Shook was flying a mail plane from Washington to South America. I also learned that Ernest was the one who had made the plans for the reunion to be held the next day.

As I was eager to see other memorable spots of my high school days, I left my reminiscing with Ernest to be continued the next day at the reunion.

The next day dawned bright and sunny, a perfect day for a picnic. Since Evelyn had helped plan the reunion, we went to the park first to help greet the returning class members. Having the airport near proved advantageous, since the first one to arrive was Max Kilgore, a private pilot, for the renowned movie star, Hedy Holean. Hedy had come with Max and she explained that she had needed the rest and that now her personal hairdresser had come along since she couldn't possibly get along without her. This hairdresser, we soon learned, was our classmate, Bonnie Beresford. The last occupant to crawl out of the plane was none other than our popular senior president, Dallas Gipe. At once Dallas started talking about "Down on My Farm" instead of his usual "Down in St. Louis." Dallas had become famous by his dairy business in Arizona which had led to the discovery of a new type of dairy feed made from the sand of the Arizona soil. This product produced enriched milk which Dallas was shipping to reconstructed Europe.

Cavins returned in his plane at about the same time. He had flown to the nearby city of Baritan to get Doris Dixon, the well-known beauty operator of this city. Doris had made herself famous by a discovery of a treatment for the hair which would prevent it from growing gray. One treatment costing twenty-five dollars would be sufficient.

Raemah Galbraith arrived with her five-year old daughter. She told me of her modern apartment in Burlington where her husband had opened a branch store for Marshall Fields. She met her husband in Chicago while on our Senior class trip.

A blue convertible coupe drove into the park, and when its occupant approached, we recognized Margaret Ross, who was now the superintendent of a large hospital in Peoria. Margaret still claimed she preferred being an old maid, but I think she will change her mind one of these days.

My memories of Betty Doubet's wishing that she could own a limousine and have a private chauffeur brought me to realize that dreams do sometimes come true, for Betty arrived car, chauffeur, and all, looking as young as ever since she was a recreational teacher in the YWCA in Chicago.

Soon after the Lincoln Zephyr pulled into the station, two men, whom we recognized to be Gene Sullivan and Herbert Isaacson, walked toward our group. They told us about their latest partnership engineering job of building a dam on the St. Lawrence River. They had named it the "Ikesul" Dam and planned to finish it within a year.

Erva Mae Montgomery, Dean of Women at Macomb WISTC, arrived bringing with her Mildred Voorhees, who was working to clear up the slum district in the now large and prospering city of Raritan. Mildred had done splendid work by lecturing, her favorite topic being, "The Prevention of Rickets."

Ernest arrived with Max Pogue and Orville Shook and reported a call from Helen Cook who sent her regrets saying she had to remain at home on a farm near Biggsville to care for her "Doggies." Ernest had also received an air mail letter from news commentator, Roy Moores of Paris, sending his best wishes and regrets at being unable to attend our reunion.

The next arrival was a truck bearing the inscription:

Gearhart Hog Housing
Need No Cleaning
Factory: Raritan, Illinois
Delivery Guaranteed Anywhere in U. S.

Wayne Gearhart, owner of the factory which had caused the boom of Raritan and Media, climbed out. His wife had taken the car and chauffeur so he had to come in the delivery truck. We noticed that he was still faithful to the Chevrolet.

The train at Central station carried Margaret Heap, owner of a group of nurseries in Detroit, to our happy group. Because of her love for children, she continued to work in her own nurseries.

M. Since our time was so filled with talk, we scarcely realized that it was already 1 P. M. A delicious meal was placed on the table and everybody was seated when their attention was attracted by the arrival of another car. I might add a limousine, complete with chauffeur, and so forth. The occupant exclaimed, "Hullo kids." Wayne Cook sauntered over to the table and made himself at home. None of us had seen Wayne since our class trip when we had left him in New York City. City life seems to have agreed with him from all appearances. He, too related how he had worked up from a New York City taxi driver to the present Mayor of that large city.

The delicious dinner was finished, but from then on until dark, the time was spent in reminiscing and telling of our present lives. I returned to the Palmer House at 8 o'clock to get a good night's sleep before my return flight the next day.

It was good to have seen and heard from the classmates of the class of '41. The memory of these students and their friendship will remain forever in our hearts and minds. We wish them all the greatest of success.

"AMERICA FIRST"

The senior class presented a different type of play, "America First" under the direction of Mr. J. B. Jackson on December 11, 1940. The play was of one-hundred-per-cent Americans who found themselves embroiled in the subversive activities of a group of aliens out to corrupt the ideals of American youth. The play depicted exciting situations, amusing comedy moments, tense action and heart interest. Those who took part in the play were:

Elizabeth Boggs	Evelyn Campbell

JUNIOR CLASS

Once upon a time there were twenty-nine Jolly, Useful, Noisy, Intelligent, Obliging, Rollicking, and Spirited juniors.

One September day this jolly group met with their advisor, Miss Martin, to choose their executives for the coming year.  Joe Campbell was chosen for president, Frances Keane  for vice-president, and Lois Anderson for secretary-treasurer.

The juniors were very well represented in the successful season of football.  Taking a great interest in the sport along with the other players, were our football captain for 1941, Joe Campbell, Wetterling, Carlson, Kempher, Lee, Neff, Blender, and Heald.

The same boys upheld our class in  basketball.

Miss Martin, our class advisor, and the members of the class enjoyed several social gatherings throughout the year. They consisted of the following parties. The junior class party at the home of Effie Jeanne Talbott on December 4th, and three birthday  parties were given in honor of: Paul Lee on October 11, Mary Mathers on January 30, and Lillian Brokaw on February 15, at their homes. February 5, we enjoyed a skating party at Monmouth.  Some, however, preferred the show "Love Thy Neighbor"  to various tumblers.

One of the highlights of the year was the Media Carnival. All of us worked willingly and were well rewarded when the representatives of our class, Dorothy Trego and Joe Campbell, were crowned king and queen of the carnival.

October 16 was a big day for the juniors when they experienced the thrill of selecting class rings.  Decisions were made from gold, gold with black enamel,  or from ruby, blue and onyx sets.

Sixteen juniors were all contestants entering in the Music and Speech contest and were successful in winning the trophy.

"SOUND YOUR HORN"

A Three Act Comedy by. Howard Reed

Cast

Phyllis . . . . .	Effie Talbott
Drusilla . . . . .	Mildred Slusher
Etta Lamb . . . . .	Luella Link
Mr. Angus . . . . .	Joe Campbell
Mrs. Van Dyke . . . . .	Mary Mathers
Christine . . . . .	Lois Anderson
Ted . . . . .	Wallace Wetterling
Diane . . . . .	Eulagene Churchill
Homer . . . . .	Charles Carlson
Beasly . . . . .	Edward Blender

Christine Eliot, owner of a roadside refreshment stand, met with some trouble when the wealthy owner of her property, Mrs. Van Dyke, decided to put her off her property with the persuasion of Mr. Angus, her lawyer. She did not know that Mr. Angus had given Beasly, the caretaker, permission to sign leases, but Beasly had done so and Christine had a right to stay on the property three years.

In the meantime, Mrs. Van Dyke's nephew, Ted, had run away and obtained a job in Christine's refreshment stand under an assumed name, and had fallen in love with her! Mrs. Van Dyke heartily disapproved, but with the help of Phyllis, Drusilla, and Diane, she changed her mind, and left Ted to marry Christine and Christine stayed on the property.

Humor is added to the story by Homer Byrd and his "constant pursuing" of Etta Lamb.

Frances seemed to be jinxed again, for after practicing four weeks for the part of Diane, she was kept home by illness, and Eulagene Churchill acted in the emergency.

M

The juniors have looked forward all year to the junior and senior banquet and all helped in earning the necessary money by selling candy at football games and presenting the class play "Sound Your Horn", on March 14.

"WHAT I ADMIRE ABOUT"---

Luella "Sis" Link: her abundant pep and energy, infectious laugh, and her interpretation of Etta Lamb.

Robert "Neff" Neff: his wit, record breaking of glasses, his "lulu", and his long eye lashes.

Lois "Snooks" Melvin: her brains, grades, and the "little girl" of our class.

Ervagene "Willy" Willard: her voice, black eyes, and her "rug-cutting."

Dorothy "Doc" Trego: her crown, brown eyes, quietness, and

Wallace "Wally" Wetterling: his looks, blond hair, neatness, manners, and posture.

Effie "Jeanne" Talbott: her clothes, her quite frequent private letters, and her giggles.

Mary "Alzora" Mathers: her piano skill, good manners hands, and her similarity to Mrs. Emerson Van Dyke.

Eulagene "Eula" Churchill: her athletic ability, friendliness, and creamy complexion.

Mildred "Midge" Slusher: her art ability, friendliness, big blue eyes, voice, sense of humor, and "Drusiness."

Joe "Joey Jr." Campbell: his brains, versatality, and his magnanimous vocabulary, and the way he rolls 'dem eyes?

Barbara "Bobbie" Waymack: her good naturedness, get-up-and-go, and her friendliness.

Donald "Bink" Mathers: his ability to choose a vocation.

Robert "Cody Bill" Galbraith: his black curly hair, and his appetite for cornflakes.

Mabelle Eberhard: her studiousness, grades, and her co-operative attitude.

Stanley "Kempfer": his crooning, and his perfect attendance at Sunday School.

Pauline "Pony" Gearhart: her looks, and green eyes.

Dorothy "Dotty" Lauver: her sewing ability, hair, also her voice.

Richard "Dick" Heald: his good naturedness, ability to take life easy, and his collection of medals for bravery,

Charles "Charlie" Carlson: his athletic ability, and also the ability to woo Etta.

Dorothy "Piggy" Schroeder: her friendliness, studiousness, and Elle parle Française tres bien.

Lillian "Lil" Brokaw: her friendliness, oratory, and her skill in sports.

Frances "Frannie" Keane: such wit and humor! her personality and basket ball technique.

Lois "Andy" Anderson: her sweetness, quietness, ability to make and maintain friends, and her big brown eyes.

Charles "Charlie" Quinn: his geometric aptitude.

Edward "Ed" Blender: athletic ability, his superb enactment of "Beasly."

Maxine Bigger: being able to get along with her sisters.

Max "Cheese" Livermore: his biology talks, English essays, and his deep voice.

CLASS OF '43

Well, well, here we are again writing up for the annual, but this time we are "silly sophomores!" When school began, we found only one of our class missing. That was Virginia Vestal.

Miss Johnson, our class adviser, called the group together for class election. Officers chosen were: President, Elmer Harden; Vice President, Wanda Heap; Secretary, Richard Henry; and Treasurer, Bud Link.

On September 20, the wolves (sophomores) pounced upon the sheep (freshmen). Bob Roark gave all of the freshmen, who dared to disobey orders, cod liver oil. You can bet some of them received their share! The boys made excellent flappers in their girls' dresses. All freshmen carried catalogs and wore cucumbers around their necks. The girls wore long black socks. At 11:30 an assembly was called, and the freshmen provided entertainment for everyone. Nelson Eddy (Billie Creech) and Jeannette MacDonald (Margaret Schenck) gave us their version of the popular tune "My Rubber Dollie." Our two little "rug cutters," "Butch" Campbell and Norman Furnace, gave us a jitterbug dance. Bob Gearhart showed us how to "perk" like a percolater, while Ben Heap imitated a steamboat. J. R. Worley II (Mary Ellen Voorhees) gave us her idea of how to run a relay race. With various other incidents, the program came to a close with the election of the prettiest "girl." Billy Creech, in a lovely blue print that came to his ankles and a ribbon in his hair, took the prize.

We were in good humor for the initiation party since our team had won a victory in the afternoon. The evening was spent in further embarrassing the freshmen and playing games. The freshmen evened the score by compelling the sophomores to sing "Playmates." At the end of the program, refreshments were served.

October 25, the Sophomores came bright and early to decorate their car in preparation for the homecoming game with Biggsville. On the evening of the same day, the carnival was held. Representatives for Carnival King and Queen from our class were Bud Link and Donna Musser. Others from our class took part in various stunts and games during the evening.

The sophomore girls were active in G.A.A. Several attended play day at Alledo early in the fall. Later several were initiated into the organization at a party given for all members and the lady faculty members.

The Sophomore girls have had several parties of their own. A Christmas party was planned by the boys' and girls' glee clubs. The chorus girls made candy and popcorn balls which were served with apples. Gifts were distributed from a lovely Christmas tree. The freshmen and sophomores visited Monmouth on the evening of February 4 to celebrate by holding a skating party. Some attended a show, while others remained to do the Dutch Roll and other acrobatic stunts on the skating rink. (Have you still got a bad knee, Wanda W?) Almost every month, the Home Economics Club has held a party.

The dramatic and literary ability of our class was demonstrated in English II class when we gave an Abraham Lincoln program and read original poems. On March 21, we further displayed our talent in the music and speech contest by giving the juniors a close chase for the trophy. The score was 45-46 in favor of the class of '42.

On April 8, the sophomore girls were invited to a birthday surprise party for Doris Krohn. And was it a surprise! The last few weeks of school will hold many more happy and interesting times for the class of '43.

MUSIC - SPEECH

MUSIC - SPEECH

MUSIC

Soon after school began last fall, the music clubs were organized in Media High School with unusual interest shown by both the girls and boys of the school. The girls' chorus was organized with nearly thirty members and with Doris D. as their accompanist for the year.

The boys' chorus with sixteen members had the largest enrollment of any boys' chorus previous to this year, with Mary Mathers as their accompanist.

Both the choruses appeared on various programs during the year.

A girls' sextet was organized later in the year and appeared on several programs. The members of the sextet were: sopranos--Effie Jeanne Talbott and Raamah Galbraith, second sopranos--Pauline Gearhart and Evelyn Campbell, altos--Doris Dixon and Eulagene Churchill.

The girls' chorus sponsored the all-school Christmas party and entertained the student body with a program of sacred and secular Christmas carols during the afternoon.

Later in the year, a girls' trio from the junior class was organized. This trio appeared on the baccalaureate and commencement programs in addition to the chorus. The following girls comprised the trio: soprano--Effie Jeanne Talbott, second soprano--Pauline Gearhart, alto--Ervagene Willard.

The boys' chorus presented an original musical stunt at the all-school carnival, and they also appeared between acts of the junior play.

Members of the boys' and girls' choruses were unusually well represented in the music division of the annual inter-class music and speech contest this spring. Eight girls entered the vocal solo contest and seven boys. Five entered the piano contest this year.

The eight students chosen to represent Media at the Bi-County Music Festival which was held at Biggsville were: Raamah Galbraith, Pauline Gearhart, Margaret Ross, Erva Mae Montgomery, Ernest Melvin, Wayne Gearhart, Orville Shook, Donald Cavins.

MUSIC AND SPEECH CONTEST

An exceptionally large number of contestants entered the Music and Speech contest this year making it necessary to divide the program. There were six seniors, sixteen juniors thirteen sophomores, and two freshmen, making a total of thirty-eight. Eighteen of these were in speech; and twenty in music. The contest was an unusually close one since the Juniors won by a score of forty-five over the Sophomores who had a score of forty-four. The Seniors came next with a score of twenty-nine while the Freshmen ranked last having a score of six.

FOOTBALL BANQUET

The tenth annual football banquet was held in the Media High School gymnasium, Thursday, November 14, to complete a very successful football season. The Bulldogs won eight out of nine games, defeated only by Roseville. The banquet was served by the Smithshire Ladies' Aid to two hundred.

Decorations were carried out in the school colors--red and white. On the wall behind the speakers' table, pennants of the opposing teams' colors and Media's colors gave the scores of each game. The tables were decorated with tripods of red and white pennants, red and white chrysanthemums, and red candles. The place cards on the speakers' table were red megaphones with white lettering. The programs were red and white also.

Mr. Jackson introduced the toastmistress, Miss Beth Brokaw, who in turn introduced the community speakers, Mr. Keith Milligan of Smithshire and Mr. Art Shook of Media. Mr. Wayne Perrine, unable to be present because of illness, was to represent the Raritan community. The Monmouth College quartet and their accompanist entertained with a number of vocal selections. Dallas Gipe, this year's captain, expressed his appreciation for the support given by the community, the students, the faculty, and the team. The principal speaker of the evening was Coach Ray Hansen, Director of Athletics at Western State Teachers College. Coach Hansen spoke very interestingly on "You Can't Steal Second Base With One Foot On First." The girls' glee club sang two selections. Mr. Boucher then awarded the letters to the following boys:

Seniors: Captain Gipe, Max Kilgore, Max Pogue, Donald Cavins, Wayne Cook, Wayne Gearhart, and Orville Shook.

M Sophomores: Elmer Lee Harden and Robert Roark.

Next year's Captain, Joe Campbell, was announced by Coach Boucher and the program closed with the singing of Media Loyalty by the audience.

FOOTBALL LETTER MEN

Dallas Gipe

Captain Gipe proved to be a capable leader for the "Bulldogs." Dally was a triple threat at halfback, but was also a strong defensive man. He not only proved to be a good ball player, but also a good speech maker. We are hoping he will be back next year to carry "the mail" for Media.

Max Kilgore

This was his first season on the varsity and he was a ball carrier from the position of tail back. He was a gritty defensive player. We are sorry he will be lost by graduation.

Max Pogue

He completed his fourth season this year as a varsity man, in the position of full back. Not only was he good on defense, but he was a good blocker and pass catcher. At the end of the season he was handicapped by a knee injury.

Wayne Cook

"Cookie" played his second and last year which was his best. He was a hard tackler and a very good pass catcher. The position of end was filled well by him.

Wayne Gearhart

Wayne was the largest man on the team and was good on offense and defense, at which he played guard. This was his third year as a letter winner. We will be sorry to lose him this year.

Donald Cavins

"Cave" played center his senior year and guard on defense. He could be depended on to be in on the play. This was his last year and a good one.

Orville Shook

This was "Orv's" first year to win a letter. He played center on offense and guard on defense. His position was filled well and we are sorry he is a senior.

Robert Neff

"Bob" played his second year at end. He was a good defensive man and a good pass receiver. He will be back next year and we are expecting him to display some good football. Bob always wanted to play in the back field and in the Stronghurst game, he was actually there.

Edward Blender

"Ed" filled his position at tackle in a fine manner. He did well as blocker on offense and was an efficient tackle on defense because he was a "stout" man. He will be back next year.

Charles Carlson

This was "Charlie's" first year to earn a letter. He played guard on offense and was a definite tackler. Carlson will be back next year and we hope he will be still better.

Captain-elect Joe Campbell

"Juice" was the quarterback of the team. Joe was a very good ball carrier, passer and tackler. This was his first season to be a letter winner. He will be back next year and we hope he will be better than ever as a signal caller and leader.

Wallace Wetterling

"Wally" was a substitute back and end and proved to be an able ball carrier. He had a good attitude and with this year's experience, he should develop into a worthy regular next season.

Stanley Kempher

"Touchdown" played his first season as a letter winner. He was substitute between half back and end. Stanley was a good ball carrier and pass catcher. He will return next year.

Elmer Harden

M This was "Elmo's" second year to win a letter. He played guard on defense and tackle on offense. He filled his position very well and next season we are looking forward for him as a mainstay in our defensive line.

Robert Roark

"Pop" filled the position of guard on defense and offense. He did the job very well and he will be back again next year. Let's show them, Bob, what you really can do!

BASKETBALL

This year's basketball season opened with only three letter men back, namely: Joe Campbell, Max Kilgore and Max Pogue. However, several from the lightweight and heavy-weight teams showed promise of developing into good varsity material. The season got off to a start with a win from Gladstone.

In the KMBS Christmas tournament, held at Stronghurst, Media defeated Biggsville in the first game but fell to the mercy of Stronghurst the following night with a defeat of 43-31. This gave Media second place in the tournament, and a trophy to add to the collection.

In the Bi-County tournament, Media varsity drew a bye, the winner of the Roseville--Kirkwood game. The Bulldogs were defeated by a decisive score by Roseville. This threw them out of the race. The lightweights were defeated by Kirkwood, and the heavyweights by Stronghurst. All three of Media's opponents in each division went on to win the tournament. On Saturday afternoon of the tournament, Media won the exciting free throw contest with a total of 28 points. Stronghurst was a close second with 27 points.

The varsity's next tournament was the district at Stronghurst. The first game was with Lomax which the Bulldogs came through to win. On the following night, the Western Academy Cardinals defeated Media Bulldogs and left us to play the loser of Stronghurst--Terra Haute game, for third place in the tournament. A one-point defeat gave Media fourth place.

This year's heavyweights consisted of: Charles Carlson, Robert Mowen, Dallas Gipe, Donald Cavins, Orville Shook, Stanley Kempfer, Elmer Lee Harden.

At the end of the year, letters were presented to: Joe Campbell, Wayne Cook, Dallas Gipe, Captain Max Kilgore, Robert Neff, and Wallace Wetterling. Manager letters were awarded to Jim Palmer and Bob Gearhart. Three of this year's letter winners will return next year to be the nucleus of the 1941-1942 Media basketball team. May they ever be victorious!

GIRLS' SPORTS

The first sport the girls went in for this year was soccer-ball. The girls were divided into teams as follows:

Meteors: Captain--Ervagene Willard, Barbara Waymack, Donna Musser, Mildred Anderson, Erva Mae Montgomery, Raamah Galbraith, Betty Lauver, Evelyn Campbell, Dorothy Lauver, Mabelle Eberhard, Helen Davis, Margaret Heap, Rozella Heap, Nina Sullivan, Wilsie Tully.

Satellites: Captain--Eulagene Churchill, Betty Doubet, Bonnie Beresford, Luella Link, Lois Anderson, Doris Krohn, Wanda Wallace, Margaret Schenck, Ruth Campbell, Doris Dixon, Alice Wilson, Mildred Voorhees, Wanda Heap, Lillian Brokaw.

Comets: Captain--Margaret Ross, Betty Pogue, Mary Bigger, Pauline Gearhart, Effie Jeanne Talbott, Mary Ellen Voorhees, Mildred Slusher, Marie Bricker, Maxine Bigger, Lois Melvin, Frances Keane, Helen Cook, Dorothy Schroeder, Ruth Heald.

The first game was played between the Satellites and the Comets on the soccer field just west of the football field. The Satellites came through with a unanimous victory of 1-0. The next game was between the Satellites and the Meteors. A victory of 4-0 belongs to the Meteors.

Varsity Team

The G. A. A. board met with Miss Johnson and selected girls from the various Soccer teams (Satellites, Comets, and Meteors) for an all-star or varsity team. These girls were chosen because of their skill at playing soccer throughout the tournament games. The following girls make up the Varsity team and the substitutes.

Forwards:	Luella Link	RO	Substitutes

WEVER STAFF

Editor	Joe Campbell
Business Manager	Margaret Ross
Advertising Manager	Wallace Wetterling
Art	Mildred Slusher

Other members were: Bette Pogue, Donna Musser, Wanda Wallace, Lois Anderson, Frances Keane, Lois Melvin, Dorothy Schroeder, Dorothy Trego, Ernest Melvin, Erva Mae Montgomery and Mildred Voorhees.

The making of a mimeographed year book requires the help of many. At the beginning of the year, a staff is chosen but these by no means include all those who help. This year those who have done much and whose names do not appear on the staff are: Effie Jeanne Talbott, Pauline Gearhart, Max Kilgore, Doris Dixon, Doris Krohn, Marie Bricker, Nina Sullivan, Wanda Heap and Margaret Eberhard.

To finance the 1941 Wever, four advertising trips were made which netted approximately ninety dollars. A dance was given on February 22 but little was cleared on this project. Three one-act plays were given on March 28. These brought twenty-seven dollars into the treasury. Candy sold at noon hours and at athletic events added more to the funds.

WEVER PLAYS

Three one-act plays, sponsored for the benefit of the "Wever," were presented on the evening of March 28. These plays were directed by the following faculty members: Miss Margaret Johnson, Mr. Virgil Boucher, and Mr. James Jackson. Twenty-seven dollars was realized from these presentations. Special music was furnished between acts by the girls' glee club and the grade school, directed by Mrs. Mac Pogue and Miss Irene Huff. Following is the cast for each play:

"A CLOSE SHAVE"

Johnny Alexander.....	Raymond Corzatt
Claudia Bennett.....	Donna Musser
Dorine Alexander.....	Mary Bigger
Lee Alexander.....	Max Pogue
Luther Webb.....	Elmer Harden

"WILDCAT WILLIE GETS BRAIN FEVER"

Beatrice.....	Barbara Waymack
Vivian.....	Ervagene Willard
Ethel.....	Mildred Voorhees

F. F. A.

Learning to do
Doing to learn
Earning to live
Living to serve.

The F. F. A. is an organization of the boys taking agriculture. The local chapter is a member of the national organization.

September found 18 members back for work. The organization meeting was held on November 25 with the following officers chosen:

President	Wayne Gearhart
Vice President	Orville Shook
Secretary	Ernest Melvin
Reporter	Wallace Wetterling
Watchdog	Dallas Gipe

Following is the list of new members taken in this year: Tom Arnold, Robert Gearhart, Norman Furnace, Edward Foresman, and James Palmer.

In order to help defray expenses of the judging teams to Champaign in June, a public program of dancing and stunts was held March 22. Approximately twenty-seven dollars was cleared. Glen Watson, Jr.'s orchestra furnished the music. Another means of earning funds was the selling of garden and flower seeds.

The banquet which climaxed the year was held April 26. The F. F. A. used a novel way of presenting the program. The president acted as toastmaster and carried on the program as a meeting of the club would be conducted. First was the opening ceremony consisting of the call to order and the roll call. The secretary then read the minutes which were approved and accepted.

Next came the program: Songs by the F. F. A. members; "What It Means To Be a State Farmer" by Keith Corzatt, '37; speech by Dr. A. M. Holan; talk by Paul W. Durbin; presentation of gift to Mr. Durbin; and as the final number, the entire group rose and gave the salute to the flag.

G. A. A. NEWSIES

1940-1941 proved to be a busy year for the G. A. A. members. In the fourth week of school the G. A. A. organization began to march. The officers elected were:

President--Ruth Heald
Vice President--Doris Dixon
Secretary--Dorothy Trego
Assistant Sec'y.--Mabelle Eberhard
Treasurer--Lois Melvin

The board met later and made out the G. A. A. constitution. A new point system was also devised. Points this year were not only given for the officers of the G. A. A., but also for a complete year of active Physical Education; being a member of a regular team; member of winning team; member of varsity; substitute for varsity; attending playday chairman of committee; member of committee; cheer leaders; being on the honor roll; refereeing a game; achievement tests; oral reports; physical examination; participating in stunt; and for each hour of help with equipment.

Awards

Awards are given this year according to the amount of points earned.

75 points are required for memberships.

150 points in two years for class numeral.

225 points in three years for a felt "M".

275 points for a chenille "M".

Sweater to the Senior earning most points above 300.

G. A. A. Play Day

Ten girls from the Girls' Athletic Association and Miss Margaret Johnson attended the play day at Aledo, on Saturday October 6. Those schools represented at the play day were: New Boston, New Windsor, Joy, Alexis, Monmouth, Aledo and Media. Approximately ninety girls were present.

During the day the girls participated in aerial darts, volley ball, line hockey, dodge ball and relay races. At noon they enjoyed a delicious meal, after which they played more games and then took part in a program of stunts.

Initiation

The new G. A. A. members thought they had a reason to be frightened on the eve of November 25, 1940. They were to be initiated at a party in the gymnasium.

They spent part of the evening in jitterbugging, shooting a few baskets, and playing games. Then came fun for everyone, except the new members. As their names were called they went upon the stage and awaited further orders. The new members performed stunts as follows:

Marie Bricker serenaded one certain well-known young man from around Raritan.

"Elmo" Harden (the second) out on the football field was Wanda Heap--as she impersonated him making a dash for the goal.

Doris Krohn demonstrated what she would do if the slats fell out of the bed she was sleeping in. It is rumored that she and Marie had had experience.

Helen Davis turned out to be the jitterbug of the evening and Nina Sullivan the ballet dancer.

Wanda Wallace did some vocalizing on a current popular tune.

The instrumentalist of the evening was Donna Musser when she named and imitated her favorite musical instrument.

Luella Link turned preacher on us and gave us an illustration of one in the pulpit.

After the acknowledgment portion of the evening, the whole group joined in the singing of G. A. A., school and popular songs.

Later in the evening everyone went down to the attractively decorated homemaking building where delicious refreshments of pumpkin pie, whipped cream and hot cocoa with marshmallows were served. Unusual favors were found beside the name cards.

M So we welcomed into our midst the new, enthusiastic members: Luella Link, Wanda Wallace, Marie Bricker, Helen Davis, Doris Krohn, Nina Sullivan, Donna Musser, Wanda Heap, and Mary Bigger.

G. A. A. Luncheon

On February 22, 1941, the G. A. A. girls held a luncheon at Hawcock's Cafe. Since it was Washington's birthday, the tables were decorated with red, white, and blue. Miniature Washington monuments decorated with ferns around the base were used as a center piece for each table. A small outline of the map of the United States with one state missing was at each place. Each girl found her place by fitting the vacant state in the map with the one given her.

The menu was as follows: Meatballs, potatoes with peas, perfection salad, candied apples, cherry chiffon pie topped with whipped cream, coffee, mints and nuts.

After the girls had eaten, they sang a number of rousing G. A. A. songs. Later the group went to the movie, "Captain Caution," which everyone enjoyed a great deal.

G. A. A. Guests At Party

Fifteen members of the Girls' Athletic Association and Miss Margaret Johnson, adviser, attended the party held in Stronghurst in April. Biggsville High School girls were also guests.

The girls went in the school bus and had an evening of fun playing volleyball, dancing, and watching a special program prepared by the Stronghurst girls.

Play Day At Kirkwood

Seven girls and Miss Margaret Johnson attended Play Day at Kirkwood, Saturday, April 25. Girls attended from Stronghurst, Roseville, Abingdon, Biggsville, and Media. The morning activities consisted of relays, dodge ball, baseball, and deck tennis. After lunch, each school took part in the program. Reports on G. A. A. activities were given by a girl from each school, and then the girls took part in folk dancing and social dancing.

"M" CLUB ACTIVITIES

Organization

1940-41 marks the eighth year of activity for the "M" Club. September brought eleven of the old members back: Dallas Gipe, Max Pogue, Donald Cavins, Max Kilgore, Wayne Cook, Wayne Gearhart, Ernest Melvin, Herbert Isaacson, Joe Campbell, Robert Neff, and Elmer Harden.

The old members met on September 6 and chose the officers for the year as follows:

President.....	Dallas Gipe
Vice President.....	Max Pogue
Secretary.....	Donald Cavins
Treasurer.....	Max Kilgore

On November 18, eight new members were initiated: Bud Link, Dick Heald, Orville Shook, Edward Blender, Charles Carlson, Wallace Wetterling, Stanley Kempfer, and Robert Roark.

Carnival

As has been the custom for a number of years, the "M" Club with the G. A. A. sponsored the carnival on October 25. The club used the money earned for the party, dance, and sweat suits for the basketball team.

"M" Club Party

M On the evening of December 14, the "M" Club members entertained their lady friends and the faculty at the "M" Club Christmas party. In the early evening, the group enjoyed the movie, "Quarter Back." The guests were then entertained at Hawcock's, where clever contests and games were played. A lunch of turkey sandwiches, Christmas molded salad, fruit cake, ice cream molded in the shape of different Christmas figures, and coffee was served.

The tables and the room were cleverly decorated in silver and blue portraying the Christmas idea. At the close of the party, the ladies were presented with handmade sweet pea corsages.

"M" Club Dance

The last event for the club was the dance on April 12. This year's crowd was probably the largest that ever attended this affair.

The patriotic theme was carried out throughout. The stage was decorated with narrow red and white streamers in arch formation, from which were suspended in glittering blue letters--"God Bless America." The false ceiling was a huge American flag. About the walls was draped bunting with patriotic pictures and designs. The dance programs were in the shape of the shield in red, white and blue. Music was furnished by Art Larkin's orchestra.

A new feature of the dance this year was the crowning of the Queen. The "M" Club members chose candidates from seven neighboring schools as follows:

Patricia Cabeen.....	Alexis
Jaunita Worden.....	Kirkwood
Ervagene Willard.....	Media
Dorothy June Woods.....	Oquawka
Martha Lang.....	Roseville
Barbara Links.....	Stronghurst
Barbara Loudon.....	Terre Haute

The candidates were interviewed by four judges, and later in the evening, Loren Van Doren interviewed them before the dance crowd. Points upon which the judges based their decisions were: personality, attractiveness, and conduct during the evening.

The Queen chosen was Miss Jaunita Worden from Kirkwood. Miss Worden was presented with a bouquet of roses by Dallas Gipe, President of the club. Immediately following this, the Queen and the President of the club led in the grand march.

NOON HOUR ACTIVITY

The following boys were contestants in the first checker tournament: B. Beresford, J. Palmer, C. Casteel, E. Foresman, E. Blender, J. Casteel, R. Mowen, N. Furnace, T. Arnold, P. Lee, D. Hendrickson, R. Russel, O. Shook, R. Moores, B. Creech, H. Isaacson.

D. Hendrickson, the champion of the tournament, first defeated R. Russel, and then O. Shook. Then in the championship game he won over N. Furnace who received second.

The following boys entered the second checker tournament: D. Gipe, M. Livermore, N. Furnace, R. Neff, R. Russel, R. Mowen, J. Casteel, P. Lee, R. Corzett, D. Hendrickson, E. Foresman, M. Pogue, T. Arnold, M. Kilgore, J. Palmer, W. Wetterling, B. Beresford.

Max Pogue was the champion of this tournament. First he defeated Foresman, and then J. Palmer. In the championship game he played N. Furnace whom he defeated.

The following boys entered the table tennis tournament: C. Carlson, R. Russel, E. Blender, H. Isaacson, R. Neff, B. Beresford, D. Gipe, O. Shook, M. Hendrickson, M. Pogue, S. Kempner, C. Quinn, J. Casteel, W. Wetterling, D. Cavins, R. Moores.

The table tennis tournament was won by D. Gipe who beat H. Isaacson, R. Neff, and D. Cavins in the championship game.

Most of the boys during the noon hour played in touch football. Robert Neff, Dallas Gipe, Paul Lee, and Robert Mowen were generally the ring leaders, ready to play regardless of what the weather man was doing.

During the fall there were softball games going on at noon hour. The games which were played most frequently were work up, or the F. F. A. team would stand the school team.

A basketball tournament was played during the noon hour by the boys who were divided into different teams.

Team I	Team II	Team III	Team IV
Blender (C)	B. Heap (C)	Carlson(C)	Mowen (C)
Lee	Quinn	Moores	Link
Arnold	Beresford	J. Casteel	Creech
Corzett	Furnace	W. Gearhart	Heald
R. Galbreath	M. Hendrickson	D. Hendrickson	Henry
Livermore	D. Mathers	E. Melvin	J. Palmer
Sullivan	Thrush	Werner	Boark

Team V
 Shook (C)
 Kempher
 Foresman
 J. Heap
 Isaacson
 Russel
 C. Casteel

Team I took first in the tournament with the score of having won all its four games.

A free throw contest was held during the noon hour in which all the boys were entered. Ten free throws were shot daily and those making the highest per cent were chosen to represent the school at the Bi-County tournament. The five chosen were R. Neff, W. Cook, B. Heap, B. Creech, and E.D. Cavins. These boys won the Bi-County cup with a total of 28 out of 50.

Other games and activities during the noon hour were: shuffle board, Rook, Pit, and Touring. Croquet was the common sport among the girls, but a few boys did play. Paddle tennis was popular during the noon hour, and after the boys came in from football and track.

Some of the girls and a few boys took part in dancing at noon hour. The music was furnished by Doris Dixon, Mary Mathers, Wilsie Tully; the loud speaker was used.

An inter-class basketball tournament was held for the boys. Teams from the freshman, sophomore, junior, and senior classes were chosen as follows:

Freshman Team	Sophomore Team	Junior Team	Senior Team
T. Arnold	R. Mowen	J. Campbell	D. Gipe
B. Heap	R. Russel	C. Carlson	W. Cook
N. Furnace	E. Harden	R. Neff	M. Pogue
J. Casteel	C. Werner	W. Wetterling	M. Kilgore
C. Casteel	B. Beresford	C. Quinn	R. Moores
B. Creech	H. Thrush	S. Kempher	O. Shook
E. Foresman		D. Heald	D. Cavins
		M. Livermore	E. Melvin
		R. Galbreath	H. Isaacson
		E. Blender

The juniors who were never defeated during the entire tournament, won the championship. The seniors were beaten once, the sophomores twice, and the freshman three times.

CARNIVAL

Soon after school begins in the fall, students begin to inquire, "When is the carnival?" "What are we going to do at the carnival this year?" Everyone looks forward to this event in the early part of the year.

It is one activity that includes the entire student body, since a variety of duties are involved: acting, selling, building booths, planning, singing and various others. The 1940 carnival was held October 25 as a climax of the Homecoming celebration. This year the crowd was quite lively since the Bulldogs had defeated Biggsville in the afternoon.

The climax of the evening was the crowning of the carnival King and Queen, who were chosen by popular vote. Joe Campbell and Dorothy Trego of the Junior Class were crowned King and Queen with the following attendants: Raamah Galbraith, Ruth Campbell, Donna Musser, Orville Shook, Bud Link and Ben Heap. The crowning was done by Ruth Heald, President of the G. A. A. Marilyn Oliver and Dickie Overstreet were crown bearers and Marilyn McCollum was the queen's train bearer.

Various games, stunts and contests added more variety to the program. Almost one hundred twenty dollars was cleared. Of this sum, forty dollars was transferred to the G. A. A. and "M" Club each and the remainder was left to purchase noon-hour equipment.

NATIONAL ATHLETIC SCHOLASTIC HONORARY SOCIETY

The purpose of this purely honorary organization is to encourage high scholastic work among athletes. In order to become a member a fellow must have earned a letter in a major sport and have had a scholastic record of B for three consecutive semesters.

In 1936 the Media Chapter was received. Since that time there has been 15 members. Five more were added this year: Elmer Harden, Charles Carlson, Robert Neff, Wallace Wetterling, and Max Pogue. In addition to these, the year's membership consists of Donald Cavins, Dallas Gipe and Joe Campbell.

ASSEMBLIES

Dr. Cecil Sharp gave a lecture on the control of tuberculosis in Henderson County. He related the causes, effects and ways to guard against it.

The second in a series of health lectures was given at an assembly by Dr. Rector of Evanston, Illinois, who spoke on the control of cancer. Dr. Rector was introduced by the home adviser, Mrs. Creasey. He made an appeal to high school students through movies and a short talk on their responsibility in the control of cancer.

A program of educational movies was made for the year. Some of the films shown were: University of Iowa Homecoming, Manufacture of Prestone, Citrus Fruit, and Effects of Alcohol.

Several special pep meetings were held during the year. An especially effective one was given before the Blandinsville game. This was an "old fashioned victory". A bonfire and pep meeting was held before the Stronghurst game.

"Life Behind Prison Walls" was given by George D. Ranney, lecturer and penalogist, who has personally visited practically every penitentiary in the United States, and many prison farms, prison camps, and chain gangs as well as a number of prisons in Old Mexico.

On Armistice day, a special program was held at eleven o'clock. Mr. Jackson gave a short talk on the meaning of Armistice day to Americans and Mrs. Pogue led the group in singing patriotic songs.

Billy Bones gave a lecture, presented in a very unique manner, "Be Somebody." He compared those who made something of themselves with those who didn't, relating it to us by reading several of his original poems.

Mr. George Robinson, Sr., Associate State Director of the Youth Citizenship Movement, presented a lecture on "Alcohol Education." For a high school group, it proved both interesting and instructional.

Judge Bail of the Juvenile Courts of Cincinnati, gave an effective lecture on temperance. Because of his experiences with youth, his lecture was even more interesting and educational than that of the ordinary lecturer. His humor appealed to the student body so that he had the attention of the entire group from start to finish.

Homemaking I and II

HOMEMAKING

Homemaking I

The girls in Homemaking I started the year by discussing and purchasing all equipment needed for the sewing unit. After learning the technique of sewing, the unit was begun by making pin cushions and pot-holders, using original ideas. When these were completed, the girls made their white aprons trimmed with blue rick-rack, which were worn in the kitchen while cooking.

Homemaking I studied a variety of units; some of the most interesting and outstanding were:

The making of Christmas gifts, and decorations for the tree--Aprons, scarves, table covers, hot pads, animals and toys were made and displayed.

Care of the home--These units gave an opportunity to actually try some of the ideas learned. Perhaps the one enjoyed the most was that of preparing breakfasts.

My own room--Every girl desires to have a room of her own which she may arrange and keep. The girls found that a room reflects the personality of the owner, and that attractive rooms may be made with little expense by careful planning.

The making of plain dresses--This was very interesting to some since they had never made a dress before. The girls learned how to fit the pattern to themselves; make alterations in the pattern, and place the pattern on the material.

"Personal Grooming"--The class studied the various phases of personal appearance: hair arrangement for the individual and the proper care of the hair; care of nails; correct posture and how to secure it; make up with relation to the individual and the occasion for which the girl wished to wear make up.

"The Family"--The girls learned how much each one could contribute to the happiness of home life, especially by the little kindnesses. Some of the topics discussed: sister and brother relationships; mother and daughter; father and daughter.

Homemaking II

This class had the largest enrollment of the three classes. At the beginning of the year, the girls studied food preservation. In connection with this unit, they cold-packed tomatoes, made tomato juice, and visited the cold-storage locker plant at Stronghurst.

After completion of "Textiles and their Care" and the "Well-Dressed Girl," each girl made a neat and good-looking wool dress. The prices ranged from $2 to $6.

Home planning and decoration afforded an excellent opportunity for note book work on the ideal home. Mildred Slusher had one of the most outstanding.

At Christmas time, the girls tried their skill at making candy and decorations for trees. After the holidays, the class studied and prepared luncheons.

Following this unit, the girls began plans for their ideal homes by making drawings, planning color combinations, and furnishing and decorating the rooms. This unit proved to be very interesting to all the girls, for every girl plans for a home of her own in the future.

With this unit completed and spring close at hand, the girls wished to make new clothes, and in order that the girls might see a variety of materials, the class took a shopping trip to Burlington. A few decided to make formals, while others made dresses and suits. Effie Jeanne Talbott made an unusually attractive formal of printed pink taffeta.

Homemaking III

M Since this was the last year of Homemaking for the senior girls, they wished to study units which would be profitable to them during the next few years. They started the year with a study of food preservation and the making of jelly. They also visited the cold storage locker plant at Stronghurst, to see a demonstration on frozen meats and curing of meats.

Following this unit, "The Home and the Family" and "Marriage--Boy and Girl Relationships" were studied. The history of the family served as an introduction to this unit.

The time had come for cooking; therefore, the girls took up the study of dinners. The class was divided into groups of four, with one group preparing dinner and serving it to the other group. The next day the procedure would be reversed. In this manner each girl had experience as hostess, waitress, cook, and guest.

The living room and its use in the home was the subject of discussion for the next few days. Pictures of living rooms were brought to class, and good and bad points were emphasized in each.

The most interesting unit was the planning of a wardrobe for the senior trip. The class as a whole made a list of necessary articles needed, and as a result each girl was required to make several articles of clothing to take on the trip. Some of the attractive garments made were: a suit by Ruth Heald; a play suit by Margaret Heap; slacks by Raamah Galbraith.

Home Economics Club

The girls organized a Home Economics Club during the first part of the year. This club joined the Illinois Home Economics Association and is associated with the American Home Economics Association.

At the first meeting, the following officers were elected.

President.....Margaret Ross
Vice-President.....Evelyn Campbell
Treasurer.....Ervagene Willard
Secretary.....Dorothy Trego
Reporter.....Raamah Galbraith

Meetings were called once every two weeks on Thursday at the fourth period. Business was discussed, and topics relative to Homemaking were presented, and a social hour was conducted.

Various activities were as follows: A hike, Christmas party, Mother-Daughter tea, dance, party, feeding football boys at noon, serving supper at first faculty-board meeting, and serving a turkey banquet to fifty-five men and women.

Home Projects and Home Practice

The Homemaking girls were required to have home practice during the first semester since they belonged to a state organization. During the second semester, home projects were required. There was a variety of projects including redecorating rooms, baking, making candy and salads, sewing, planning menus, knitting sweaters, and embroidery or fancy work.

Some took an inventory of their wardrobe, and then planned a complete one, making the necessary garments. Nina Sullivan and Dorothy Schroeder chose candy making; Wanda Wallace made a white sharkskin sailor dress; Alice Wilson chose a suit as her project. Mary Bigger, Eulagene Churchill, Ervagene Willard, Margaret Ross, and Evelyn Campbell chose baking.

Summer projects will also be carried on throughout the summer, with the exception of the Senior girls who will finish their projects before the close of school. Lois Anderson and Helen Davis are planning the redecoration of their rooms.

THE ADULT EDUCATION CLASSES

Ten classes in Adult Education were held under the direction of Miss Lewis Wunderlich this year.

November 28 "Meal Planning."

December 12 "Christmas Ideas." Many attractive gifts and tree decorations made by the girls were exhibited at this class.

January 9 "Making Draperies" was a demonstration presented by Miss Mary Bergman. The girls served cookies, made in class, and cocoa.

January 30 "Machine Attachments and Their Use" was presented by Miss Ruth Kimpton from the Singer Sewing Machine Company. Some of the attachments demonstrated were: pleating, button hole, shirttail hemmer, and ruffler. The two which were the most interesting were the pinking and the gauge for use on scissors to cut narrow strips.

February 13 "Child Behavior" was a class discussion combined with a lecture.

March 6 "Principles of Interior Decoration." Since the girls had studied a unit on this subject and had made booklets, these were displayed and helped to give concrete examples of the points in the lecture.

March 13 Movies: "Wardrobe Limited" and "Love in the Kitchen."

March 27 "Style Show of Spring Fashions." Colwell's Department Store of Monmouth was in charge of this.

April 10 "Home Care of the Sick." Miss Lucille Gamble, District Health Nurse, gave a talk on prevention of contagious diseases.

April 24 "Making Slip Covers." This was another demonstration given by Miss Mary Bergman.
